RUMANIANS DRIVE TEUTONIC FORCES IN TRANSYLVANIA

According to Bucharest, a Brilliant Victory Has Been Won Over Austro-Germans in Szurduk Pass Region.

TEUTON LINES SHAKEN ALONG ENTIRE FRONT

Many Prisoners and Much Artillery Taken by Rumanians—No Change Is Reported in the Situation in Dobrudja.

New York, October 31.—(By Associated Press European Cable.)—The Rumanians have gained a victory in the region of Szurduk pass, on the Rumanian-Transylvania frontier, a wireless message from Bucharest reports. The Rumanians drove the Austro-Germans back from the frontier, capturing prisoners and artillery.

In the region north and east of Campulung, Rumania, the fighting goes on and Bucharest claims the capture of Mount Rosca at Bratocea and the repulse of Rumanian attacks north of Campulung, and Bucharest says the advance in the Jiul valley, in the region of Vulcan pass, is making progress.

No change is reported in Dobrudja.

ALLIES GAIN IN MACEDONIA.

Bad weather is hampering operations in Macedonia, but the Serbians, Paris announces, have made progress in the Cerna bend and the French have occupied a monastery west of Presba lake. Artillery combats have occupied the soldiers on the Austro-Italian front.

VICTORY CLAIMED FOR THE RUMANIANS ALONG THE FRONTIER

London, October 31.—The battle that has been in progress in the Szurduk pass region on the Rumanian-Transylvanian frontier has ended in a brilliant victory for the Rumanians, according to a wireless message from Bucharest today. The Austro-German forces, it is declared, have been repulsed from the frontier, after having lost must artillery and many prisoners.

Along the whole front of the Transylvanian Alps on the northern Rumanian border the Teutonic lines have been shaken by the Rumanian attack, the dispatch adds.

Bucharest, October 31.—(Via London.)—The Rumanians have won further advantages over the Austro-German forces on the Transylvanian front, the war office announced today. In the Jiul valley pursuit of the Teutons continues. Heavy fighting is in progress east of the Alt.

The statement follows:

"Northern and northwestern fronts: From Tulghes to Bicaz the situation is unchanged. At Bratocea a small detachment surprised and repulsed the enemy on Mount Rosca, causing him heavy losses. In a single trench we found two officers and forty men dead. We have occupied Mount Rosca, making some prisoners and capturing a machine gun and a searchlight.

"At Predelus the bombardment slackened. In the Prahova valley and in the region of Dragoslavle, north of Campulung, we repulsed several enemy attacks. To the east of the River Alt (Aluta) the action is proceeding. In the Jiul valley (region of Vulcan pass) the pursuit of the enemy continues. At Orsova (on the Danube) the bombardment was less violent.

"Southern front: The situation is unchanged."

Petrograd, October 31.—(Via London.)—In Transylvania the Rumanians continue to push back the Austro-German forces in the Jiul valley, the Rus-

Submarine Deutschland Arrives at New London With a Valuable Cargo

German Under-Sea Liner Makes Second Successful Voyage From Bremen to the United States.

New London, November 1.—The German submarine Deutschland arrived in the harbor here early this morning.

This is the second voyage of the Deutschland from Bremen to the United States. On her first voyage she made Baltimore her port of call.

Captain Koenig said the Deutschland left Bremen on October 10 and made the trip here without special incident. The crew comprises 26 men. The Deutschland appeared in the outer harbor shortly after midnight and proceeded to the dock of the Eastern Forwarding company.

Captain F. Hinsch, of the forwarding company, accompanied by Dr. R. E. Black, health officer, and other officials, met the submersible on a tug. The usual quarantine regulations were waived, and the Deutschland tied up at the dock near the North German Lloyd steamer Willehad.

The Deutschland was said to have a large cargo of chemicals.

It was said that in the future all German submarines coming to the United States, whether naval or merchantmen, will make either New London or Newport News their port of call. No more submarines will enter Hampton Roads, because of the danger of nets being dropped to trap them off the Virginia capes.

American submarines are usually operating off New London and Newport at all times of the year. British nets dropped there might endanger American vessels and German officials do not believe the British would take the chance of netting an American vessel.

SALOONS OF VIRGINIA GO OUT OF BUSINESS

Drastic Prohibition Law Took Effect at Midnight—Liquor Stored in Homes.

Richmond, Va., October 31.—Virginia, the eighteenth state to ban the sale of intoxicating beverages, entered the prohibition lists at midnight tonight, completing a dry area in the south reaching from Washington to Jacksonville to the eastward and from Washington to New Orleans to the west.

Although a large part of the Old Dominion previously had been voted dry in local option elections, the new state law had the effect of closing more than eight hundred saloons, mostly in Richmond, Norfolk, Newport News, Lynchburg, Petersburg, Roanoke and Bristol.

The law is said to be one of the most drastic ever passed by a state legislature. Under the measure no beverage except cider can be sold that shows a trace of alcohol, and possession of more than one gallon of whisky, one gallon of wine, or three gallons of beer would be regarded as prima facie evidence of intent to violate it. This provision probably will receive an early test in court, vast quantities of liquor having been stored in private homes during the past few days by those wishing to guard against the dry future.

Along with the prohibition measure, and to insure its enforcement, the legislature passed a bill which provided that ouster proceedings may be brought against state or municipal authorities who show a laxity in putting it, or any other measure, into effect. In addition a commissioner was provided to see that the law was observed.

Many of the saloons had closed during the past few days because their stocks were exhausted, but the lives of those remaining tonight were ushered out to the chimes of ringing church bells and the shouting and singing of enthusiastic dry workers who held jollification meetings and watch parties in almost every part of the state.

In sharp contrast were the elaborate "wakes" in clubs and hotels by those who saw the long arid spell before them. One bright spot shone out to the wets, however, at Bristol. There, by telephoning across the main street to the Tennessee side of the line, one can order liquor from interstate shipping houses. Several of the Bristol saloons moved their stores a stone's throw and converted them into establishments of this kind.

Although the authorities of Newport News and several of the smaller towns had issued decrees postponing the celebration of Hallowe'en to prevent possible disorders, the passing of the saloons was peaceful. Crowds were on the streets until midnight, but they were mostly made up of good natured revelers and few arrests were made.

Gov. Rye Congratulates.

Nashville, Tenn., October 31.—On the eve of Virginia's entrance into the ranks of prohibition states, Governor Tom C. Rye tonight sent a telegram of congratulations to that state. In the course of his message he said:

"Closing of saloons will abolish the most degrading of social centers and loafing places, will light the fires of hope and love in the hearts of distressed womanhood and give thousands of children a chance to be better bred, better born and better reared."

Guardsmen Wear Crepe.

Brownsville, Texas, October 31.—Bemoaning the fact, it was said, that Virginia will become a "dry" state at midnight tonight, members of a regiment of Virginia infantry stationed here marched through the streets of Brownsville tonight, each man wearing crepe on one arm and several men bearing other emblems of mourning. The marchers were headed by "Rastus Razor," a 12-year-old negro boy from Big Stone Gap, Va., regimental mascot.

"Rastus" was followed by half a dozen buglers playing appropriate airs.

SUBMARINE RAIDER U-53 REACHES GERMAN PORT

After Sinking Five Ships Off United States Coast U-Boat Crosses Atlantic.

Berlin, November 1.—(Via London.)—The German submarine U-53 has returned safely to a German port, according to the official announcement.

The German submarine U-53, in command of Lieutenant Captain Hans Rose, arrived at Newport, R. I., from Wilhelmshaven on October 7 and departed after a stay of three hours. In the course of the next day the U-53 sank five ships off the American coast.

Various reports have been current regarding the submarine and it was uncertain whether the craft was returning to Germany or had remained on this side of the Atlantic. There were various rumors also that she had been sunk. A search by American warships for a German secret base along the northeast coast for supplying submarines, proved fruitless, according to naval officers.

Ornstein Finds New Inspiration In Darktown Rag

Famous Musician Plays for Britt Craig and They Together Explore Decatur Street—Each Amazed at Brand of Entertainment Furnished Other.

By Britt Craig.

Leo Ornstein, the celebrated pianist-composer, and I held a joint entertainment for the benefit of each other last night.

He entertained me; then I entertained him.

The difference between our entertainments was that his was "high brow" and mine "high brown."

He made his piano unburden its soul to me and I carried him down along Decatur street and made the darkies sing.

It was his first introduction to ragtime as it is sung, played and danced as only Georgia negroes can. He was so tickled over it that his outbursts of appreciation made the long-haired, aesthetic artist as much a treat to Decatur street as Decatur street was to him.

I went over to the Piedmont and telephoned up to Mr. Leo Ornstein, who said come on up, and I went.

He had some Cuban cigarettes, and I smoked one and liked it, and felt right sociable with the fellow right off, he being affable and not requiring me to do any too much of the talking. He asked me would I have him play something on the piano, which he had in his room, and I said: "Oh, I wouldn't mind, if you feel in a mood."

Music From the Soul.

He said he always had to work himself into the proper mood to play, and I told him not to bother, as music didn't have to be concluded in an interview unless some of the critics were there to understand it. He said, "But

COMMISSION BUSY ON CAR SHORTAGE

Candler Wires McChord Recommending Increase in Per Diem Charge—Conference at Louisville.

Chairman C. M. Candler, of the Georgia railroad commission, in response to a telegram from C. C. McChord, of the interstate commerce commission, requesting any suggestion for the solution of the car shortage problem now facing the south, yesterday telegraphed Mr. McChord recommending an increase in the per diem charge upon cars owned by one line and used by another.

The telegram to the Georgia commission came in response to a telegraphic appeal made Monday to the interstate commerce commission in regard to the embargo which the Louisville and Nashville railroad has placed against its cars being used by the Seaboard Air Line railway, which embargo is threatening to place the city of Americus in the dark at night and bring about a water famine in the city of Decatur by reason of the inability of these cities, because of the embargo, to get coal for the power of their municipal utilities plants.

The question of the embargo is an interstate matter, over which the Georgia railroad commission has no authority, and for this reason the appeal was made to the interstate commerce commission to know what relief, if any, could be expected.

Car Shortage Conference.

Chairman Candler Tuesday received the following telegram:

"Chairman Georgia Railroad Commission, Atlanta, Ga.—Your wire received. I will hold a conference in the federal court building at Louisville, Ky., November 3 and 4, in regard to the general car shortage situation. Eastern and southern trunk lines are requested to be represented and to explain the embargo. Any suggestion by your commission will be appreciated.

(Signed) "C. C. M'CHORD.

"Washington, D. C., October 30, 1916."

To the foregoing telegram Chairman Candler sent the following reply:

"C. C. McChord, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D. C.—Regardless of the justice of the embargo by one carrier against another, such action should not subject the innocent public and shippers to inconvenience and damage. If the carriers would increase the per diem so that owning equipment would be cheaper than forcibly borrowing, the alleged practices provoking the Louisville and Nashville embargo against the Seaboard Air Line would be restricted.

(Signed) "C. M. CANDLER.

"Atlanta, Ga., October 30, 1916."

The two principal plans suggested for the amelioration of the car shortage situation are increased demurrage charges fixed on a progressive scale and increased per diem charges, also fixed upon a progressive scale.

It is understood that F. M. Hardin, manager of the Southern Demurrage bureau, will shortly file a petition with the Georgia railroad commission asking that the carriers be allowed to increase their demurrage charges and place them upon a progressive scale, perhaps $2 for the first day, $3 for the second, $4 for the third and $5 for the fourth and every day thereafter that a car is kept by a shipper of consignee.

A brick concern has suggested to the commission an increase in per diem charges.

This scale will go into effect upon interstate shipments anyway on December 1, and it will be the purpose of the carriers to ask the Georgia commission to allow this scale to become effective upon intrastate shipments also.

Many Complaints Received.

While the shortage of cars, which appears to be caused by the unusually large volume of traffic moving, including munitions, and by the large number of loaded cars in port yards waiting for bottoms, affects the shipment of coal most materially, perhaps, it also is having a telling effect upon the movement of other products, both manufactured and agricultural.

Cotton merchants are complaining because of lack of cars, as are also brick manufacturers and other producers and shippers.

In regard to the coal situation, the carriers are allowed to prorate their cars to the extent that a consignee may receive only 50 per cent of coal for which he has contracted. Meanwhile the coal producers may go on making contracts, selling and shipping only to the purchaser paying the highest price. The effect of this is, naturally, to increase the price of coal to the consumer, and, in instances such as Decatur and Americus have complained of, menace the supply altogether.

The commission has received further complaints as to car shortages, among them a complaint from the mayor and president of the chamber of commerce of the city of Maysville as to coal shipments; from William Waddell, general merchandise dealer of Fish, Ga., as to the Louisville and Nashville embargo, and from others.

The Empire Cotton Oil company has issued a circular to all with whom it does business urging co-operation with the carriers, asking that purchasers increase their single orders, that cars be loaded as nearly as possible to capacity, that the cars be not used for storage purposes and that the carriers see that unloading and removal and placing of cars be accomplished with the utmost dispatch.

CO-OPERATIVE BUYING OF NEWS PRINT PAPER

Greensboro, N. C., October 31.—Co-operative purchasing of news print paper by the members of the North Carolina Press association was decided upon today at a meeting here of the print paper committee of the association as the only means of obtaining a supply during 1917 at a price that will enable the papers to continue. The plan is for all the papers to place their order in bulk with the mails direct, eliminating the middleman.

United States Asks Germany About Torpedoing of Marina And Killing of Six Americans

Step Taken Without Waiting for Full Reports From Survivors in Order to Assemble as Soon as Possible Complete Information.

WILSON URGES HASTE IN OBTAINING FACTS IN REGARD TO TRAGEDY

President Wilson and Secretary Lansing Discussed Matter Over the Telephone. The View Is Taken That the Situation Contains Grave Possibilities.

Long Branch, N. J., October 31.—After receiving unofficial information that six Americans had lost their lives by the sinking of the British steamship Marina, President Wilson communicated with Secretary of State Lansing tonight and directed that all possible haste be taken in obtaining the facts concerning the sinking of the vessel.

Secretary Lansing informed the president that in addition to asking the American embassy in London for information, informal inquiries had been sent to the German government.

While it was made clear here that no action would be taken pending the collection of all the facts, it was indicated that the view was taken that the situation contained grave possibilities.

Secretary Lansing stated that he was not in possession of sufficient facts on which to base a judgment of the case. While preliminary reports have indicated that the Marina was sunk without warning, additional information on that point is desired.

When President Wilson left here tonight he gave directions that he be kept thoroughly in touch with the situation during his trip to Buffalo and New York city.

GERMANY ASKED FOR INFORMATION.

Washington, October 31.—Germany has been asked to furnish the United States any information the imperial government may have concerning the sinking by submarines of the British steamers Marina and Rowanmore. The request was forwarded, it became known tonight, through the American embassy at Berlin.

It is understood the state department took this step without waiting for full reports from British sources and survivors of the ships because it was considered desirable to assemble at the earliest possible moment complete information, particularly regarding the Marina, on which several American horse tenders apparently lost their lives. The request is informal and is intended in no sense as an intimation that German submarines have violated international law or the pledges of the German government to the United States.

No Tension Evident.

While the Marina is the first vessel on which American lives have been lost in the war zone since the Sussex, and all reports so far have said she was attacked without warning, there was no evident tension over the case today in government circles. Officials continued to be optimistic apparently in the belief that final accounts would show that the steamer lost her immunity as a merchantman by flight or by attempting a counter attack. As to the Rowanmore, which admittedly sought desperately to escape, there seemed to be but one point to clear up—whether the submarine actually fired upon boats leaving the ship, as alleged by survivors.

Practically no information was given

GROCERS URGE HOUSEWIVES TO ECONOMIZE

THIRTY DAYS BRINGS BIG ADVANCES

THIRTY DAYS BRINGS ABOUT INCREASE IN COST OF LIVING

Following is table compiled from quotations given by seven of leading local grocers, showing the comparative average price for groceries in Atlanta October 1, 1916, and November 1, 1916:

With the exception of seven of the leading food stuffs which appear each day on the tables of Atlantans, every commodity in a table of nineteen, compiled by The Constitution for the benefit of Atlantans, shows a gain in price during the past thirty days. The six commodities referred to seem to be holding their own—and there is a reason for this. Increased prices on the other fourteen articles show a range as broad as the fields of Texas!

Some of the gains are nearly unbelievable; others are only slight, but throughout the entire list there is not one item which shows a decrease in price.

Irish potatoes show an increase of 15 cents per peck; sweet potatoes an increase of 3 cents per peck; turnips are steady at 5 cents per bunch; sugar shows a gain of 2 2-7 cents per pound; coffee, a good grade, is steady at an average of 32 1-7 cents per pound; corn meal shows a gain of 2 6-7 cents per peck; flour shows a gain of 19 2-7 cents per 24-pound sack; lard a gain of 17 1-7 cents per 5-pound bucket; ham a gain of 1 3-7 cents per pound; bacon a gain of 3-7 cents per pound (sliced); eggs a gain of 4 1-7 cents per dozen (fresh laid eggs); bread is sold at an average of 4 5-7 cents per loaf, but the loaves are smaller and decidedly less in weight; table butter a gain of 3 1-7 cents per pound, and fresh fish, much cheaper than meats and equally as nourishing, is sold at 16¾ cents per pound, with no change in thirty days.

Representative Grocers.

The prices quoted in the above table are compiled from figures received from seven of Atlanta's grocers. They are seven representative grocers, too, for the reporter took pains to secure quotations from those selling on Peachtree street as well as those selling in the surburban districts where some slight difference might figure in the cost of the food stuffs because of the high uptown rents. Taken into consideration also, are two chains of

WIDOW OF STOKES FACES SLAYER OF HER HUSBAND

Mrs. Stokes, in Deep Black, Watches Trial of Charles Trabue for Murder.

Nashville, Tenn., October 31.—Charles C. Trabue, who shot and killed Harry S. Stokes in the latter's office in the American National Bank building last March, was placed on trial today in the criminal court and when court adjourned this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock nine jurors had been selected.

It is believed the jury will be completed and taking of evidence begun tomorrow morning.

Seated with the attorneys for the state was Mrs. Harry S. Stokes. She was dressed in deep mourning. The wife of the defendant sat at his side during the day.

The courtroom was crowded throughout the day. Judge Neil ordered the aisles cleared early in the morning, but in the balcony many stood throughout the day listening to the questioning of the veniremen and watching with obvious interest every movement in the trial of the case that appears will be one of the hardest fought legal battles in the history of the country.

Early in the day it was apparent that neither side would overlook a point or the advantage to be derived from any technicality. The state used two of the six peremptory challenges allowed and the defense six of the fifteen to which it is entitled.

Most of the veniremen had formed opinions from the stories of the tragedy read in the daily newspapers, though several had formed opinions from having talked to persons claiming to know the facts in the cse.

The nine jurors who had been selected when the hour of adjournment came were placed in charge of a court officer with instructions not to discuss the case among themselves or to speak to outsiders. They were locked up in the jury room in the criminal court building.

The killing of Harry S. Stokes in his private office last March by Charles C. Trabue was the outcome of ill feeling which came up during the progress of what is known as the tax payers' suit. Mr. Stokes represented tax payers, suing to recover money alleged to have been illegally spent by several city officials, who were ousted through his efforts. Mr. Trabue was special counsel for the city.

Bitter feeling had been shown between the two. On the day of the killing Mr. Trabue went to Mr. Stokes' office alone and fired two shots, either of which would have been fatal. Mr. Stokes died instantly. There were no witnesses. Mr. Trabue, in a statement given out after the killing, declared that he had gone to Mr. Stokes' office to demand a retraction of statements alleged to have been made about him in public and was forced to shoot in self-defense when he was attacked.

Both attorneys were members of prominent families.

ATTITUDE OF ALLIES TOWARD VENIZELOS

London, October 31.—Replying in the house of commons today to criticisms alleging that the British foreign office was propping King Constantine of Greece by withholding recognition of ex-Premier Venizelos, who is head of the new movement in opposition to the Greek government, thus promoting pro-Germanism in Greece, Lord Robert Cecil, minister of war trade, said the government had acted throughout in closes concert with all the allies. Whenever it was found that a majority of the Greek people recognize Venizelos as their government, the British government would recognize him as the de facto ruler of that part of Greece, he added.

"PASTOR RUSSELL" DIES ON A SANTA FE TRAIN

Death of the Widely Known Minister Attributed to Heart Disease.

Canadian, Texas, October 31.—Charles Tazex Russell, an independent minister, who was widely known as "Pastor Russell," died aboard an Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe train at Pampa, Texas, near here, late today. His death was attributed to heart disease.

Pastor Russell was president of the International Bible Students' association, of London, and the Watch Tower Bible and Tract society, of Pennsylvania, and an author of studies on the Scriptures. He was born in Pittsburg, Pa., February 16, 1852.

Mr. Russell, who was en route from Los Angeles to New York, complained of feeling ill as he was leaving Los Angeles, his secretary said, and his condition gradually grew worse until death came this afternoon.

His body will be taken to Kansas City on the train on which he died.

WILSON IS FAVORED BY THE PROGRESSIVES

Sixteen of the 19 Men Who Wrote Roosevelt's Platform Indorse the President.

New York, October 31.—Sixteen of the nineteen members of the resolutions committee of the first progressive party convention which framed the platform on which Theodore Roosevelt was nominated for the presidency in 1912, indorsed a statement issued here tonight by the democratic national committee commending "the legislative achievements of President Wilson." Eleven of the number signed the statement, which also urged the re-election of the president.

Those who signed the statement were: John M. Parker, of Louisiana, vice presidential candidate on the present progressive ticket; former Governor Lucius F. C. Garvin, of Rhode Island; former Governor Joseph M. Carey, of Wyoming, one of the seven governors who came out for Roosevelt in 1912; Judge Albert D. Nortoni, of Missouri, and Hugh T. Halbert, of Minnesota, who were progressive candidates, respectively, for United States senator and governor in their states; Frank N. Howard, of Vermont; M. C. De Baca, of New Mexico; James H. Ingersoll, of Idaho; Arthur G. Wray, of Nebraska; Clarence B. Strouse, of Virginia, and J. W. McCormick, of Texas.

Those who, it was announced, indorsed the statement were: William Allen White, of Kansas; George B. Hynson, of Delaware; Andrew J. Stone, of West Virginia; William R. Fairley, of Alabama, and Isaac Newton Stevens, of Colorado.

100 PERSONS INJURED IN TROLLEY COLLISION

Birmingham, Ala., October 31.—At least one hundred persons were injured at Ensley, a suburb, early today when two street cars in which they were riding telescoped in a head-on collision. So far as can be learned no one was dangerously hurt. The cars were demolished.

The two cars, containing 124 passengers, thirty of whom were negroes, it is said, were running at considerable speed.

The accident was said to have been the result of mistaken orders.

ECONOMY

Buy-right hints for the housewife

Hunt for the Sources of Saving

Lots of folks have been so long accustomed to established or fixed household and personal expenditures that belief in their necessity has become to be accepted as a matter of course; and small attention given to the possibilities on every hand to lessen them, and enjoy a justifiable economy, without impairment of quality, or restrictions in quantity.

Household and personal expenditures to a greater or less extent are almost a daily experience—and it is the regularity of the process that sometimes requires shrewd calculation to make allowances or income conciliate the outgo. Instead of complacently allowing this accepted routine to govern you through the law of custom, read the advertising pages of The Constitution every morning and awaken to the opportunities for saving money offered in all lines—just as good cut of meat at a marked saving—just as good, fresh, pure food of all kinds—items you'll have to order today—and at such a saving—look at the grocery and market ads now for confirmation.

Then the big department stores—drug stores, hardware and furniture stores—are always replete with the worthiest sort of bargains—money-saving opportunities on the things you use the most and buy the oftenest—put this Constitution ad-reading plan in operation and count substantial savings at the end of the month; live better and have more, instead of having an overspent allowance.

NOTE—The CONSTITUTION guarantees a marked saving on every purchase made in Atlanta in stores that advertise their lowest prices in these pages.

out during the day. Secretary Lansing who is handling the situation personally, declined to say anything further than that his information still was very incomplete; that some reports had come from London during the day, and that the affidavits of survivors would be cabled to the department as soon as they could be taken.

Discrepancy Not Claimed.

So far as could be learned the department thus far has not cleared up the discrepancy between Consul Frost's "provisional" report yesterday that the Marina had been sunk without warning by gunfire and today's unofficial advices from England quoting the consul and others as saying the ship was torpedoed.

It may be a week or more before the German reply is received, as the submarine or submarines which made the attacks probably would not return to their bases and report under several days. Unless there is an unreasonable delay at Berlin, no serious action will be taken here pending the reply, even though complete information from other sources should make it evident that there must be action.

Discussion of the Marina and Rowanmore cases today developed the fact that the state department never has learned what punishment was imposed by Germany upon the submarine commander who sank the Sussex, although Ambassador Gerard was instructed some time ago to make inquiries on the subject. A department official said this was one of the subjects that would be taken up with the ambassador when he called before starting on the return trip to Berlin after his vacation.

SIX AMERICANS WERE KILLED.

London, October 31.—Six Americans were killed in the sinking of the British steamer Marina, according to a telegram received by American Consul Frost, at Queenstown, says the Press association. The telgram declared that fifty-one Americans had been saved.

The Americans reported killed, the Press association says, were two men named Brown, two named Thomas and one named Middleton and one named Robertson. Men named Miller and Davis, it added, were injured.

Consul Frost has arranged to take the depositions of twenty-eight American survivors who have proceded to Dublin. Thirty-four additional survivors, including fifteen Americans, are expected to arrive at Cork tonight.

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Skibbereer, where some of the survivors of the Marina have arrived, says that the steamer was attacked by two submarines.

Sank in Ten Minutes.

The Marina sank within ten minutes after being torpedoed, Wesley Frost, American consul at Queenstown, reported to the American embassy. He said survivors state the vessel was torpedoed without warning.

Mr. Frost's telegram to the embassy follows:

"Fifty-two more survivors of the Marina landed at Castletown pier. Only thirteen now missing, believed dead. No less than thirty-six Americans aboard, of whom sixteen saved at Crookhaven. There will probably be some American fatalities. Survivors state the vessel was torpedoed without warning in heavy sea, sank within ten minutes."

A private telegram received today from Crookhaven by Robert P. Skinner, American consul general, says that among the survivors from the Marina who were landed at Crookhaven are sixteen Americans. One of them is Frank Howard Smith, a veterinary surgeon.

The weather was unusually severe at the time the Marina was sunk and has been since then.

Struck by Two Torpedoes.

The Marina was first struck amidships. The second torpedo struck the bow and the steamship went down almost immediately, in two parts.

It is reported seven men were killed while attempting to get into boats.

Sailors saw the wake of a torpedo, according to these advices, and until the ship was struck thought it was a fish.

Included among the Americans on board the Marina, according to a list issued October 30 by the United States Shipping company, of Newport News, Va., agents for the vessel, were P. Brown, Upperville, Va.; J. C. R. Brown, Washington, D. C.; H. B. Middleton, Fredericksburg, Va.; Daniel P. Thomas and John P. Thomas, both of Wilmington, Del.; Andrew G. Robinson, Baltimore; Edgar Miller, Baltimore; F. C. Davis, Wake Forest, N. C., and Jack Davis, Roanoke, Va. All were classified as horsemen.

CHARLOTTE BOY ON THE MARINA.

Charlotte, N. C., October 31.—J. G. Baird, Jr., reported to have been on the British transport Marina, sunk Saturday by a German submarine, left his home in this city several months ago, and his whereabouts was unknown to his father, who is a prominent citizen of this city and state, being past grand chancellor, Knights of Pythias, grand domain of North Carolina.

BRITISH COMMENT ON MARINA CASE.

London, October 31.—Basing their comments on the earlier news that a large number of Americans lost their lives when the British steamer Marina was sunk by a German submarine, the London evening newspapers are again asking what the United States government will do.

The Westminster Gazette, however, says:

"We as yet are without information as to the status of the Marina and the precise nature of the attack. In the absence of such information it would hardly be profitable to discuss questions which the sinking of the Marina may or may not raise."

The Globe says:

"Germany in her new submarine campaign apparently has thrown to the winds all consideration for neutrals and such pitiful shreds of international law as she still professed to maintain."

The Pall Mall Gazette says if the facts bear any resemblance to the first versions it is clear that President Wilson will be confronted by an "awkward dilemma."

Referring to President Wilson's "strict accountability" note and his election appeal of having "kept America out of the war," The Pall Mall Gazette says:

"Even his firmest supporters may feel some anxiety as to the possibility of reconciling his diplomatic notes with his election posters in such an incident as this. Whether America has any real protection to confer upon her subjects at all is a question which the Marina case may carry to a final answer."

U-BOAT OFFERED NO RESISTANCE.

Dublin, October 31.—(Via London, November 1.)—The British steamship Marina was torpedoed without warning, according to a statement made by American survivors of the vessel who arrived here tonight from Bearhaven.

The survivors declared that two torpedoes were fired at the Marina and that the submarine watched the boats containing the survivors for half an hour without offering assistance, in a statement to the Associated Press.

Twenty-eight American survivors of the steamer arrived at the Seamen's home here tonight from Bearhaven, and in the statement to the Associated Press they said:

"We reached safety after more than thirty hours in a rough sea in an open boat. Captain Brown was last seen lowering himself to a raft.

"The Marina, with a cargo of whisky from Glasgow to Baltimore, was struck by a torpedo without warning on the starboard side off Skelligs Rock at 4:14 o'clock Saturday morning and sank in a few minutes. A second torpedo struck the port side of the vessel about ten minutes after the first.

"All Americans aboard were members of the crew except one, a passenger named Middleton, of Fredericksburg, who was drowned, and two stowaways, who also were drowned.

"The submarine watched our boats for half an hour and offered no assistance."

Rocks named Little Skellig and Great Skellig are situated in the Atlantic ocean about eight miles southwest of the Island of Valentia, on the southwestern coast of Ireland.

Conference at Newnan.

Newnan, Ga., October 31.—(Special.) Tht Atlanta conference, A. M. E. church, convenes here Wednesday morning, Bishop J. S. Flipper, Atlanta, will preside. The conference is regarded one of the strongest of the seven in the state and is looked upon by its large membership in Atlanta with some interest and concern. Presiding Elder J. A. Hadly has served the limit of the law over Big Bethel church. The bishop will be compelled to make some changes, which he has anticipated for two or three years, it is said. The reports from Bethel, Allen Temple, Cosmopolitan and other churches in and around Atlanta will be full and satisfactory. Educational night is looked upon with interest, as President Fountain and Dean P. W. Greatheart and Treasurer L. H. Smith, of Morris Brown, will discuss leadership education among negroes. Several strong men, among them Rev. E. K. Nichols, of New York, and S. G. Means, it is thought, will be stationed in this conference. Editor J. Frank McDonald of Kansas City, C. A. Wingfield of the Book House, Philadelphia, J. L. Butler of the A. M. E. Review and Presiding Elder John Harmon will present their causes to the conference. The negroes are gathering here from every part of the community.

HAWAIIAN MUSIC

Magic Melodies of the South Sea Islands

THERE is a magic in the plaintive Hawaiian melodies of the throbbing ukalele and singing guitar that takes lasting hold of the imagination.

Listen to the way in which this haunting minor strain is recorded on these Columbia Double-Disc Records, and you will understand the appeal and popularity of Columbia Records of Hawaiian music:

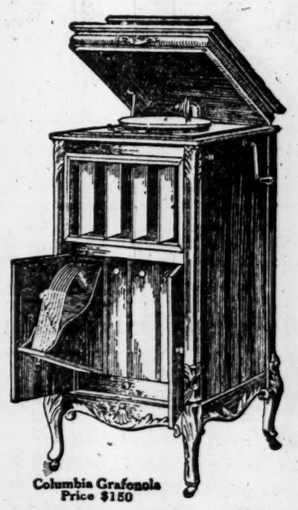

A1861 10-inch 75c — HONOLULU RAG. Palie K. Lua and David K. Kaili. Hawaiian Guitar Duet. / KAIWI WALTZ. (Kaiwi.) Palie K. Lua and David K. Kaili. Hawaiian Guitar Duet.

A1812 10-inch 75c — HILO. Hawaiian March. Irene West Royal Hawaiian Troupe. / KOHALA MARCH. Palie K. Lua and David K. Kaili. Hawaiian Guitar Duet.

A1874 10-inch 75c — HAWAIIAN HOTEL (Nainas.) Palie K. Lua and David Kaili. Ukalele Duet. / KILIMA WALTZ. Palie K. Lua and David Kaili. Ukalele Duet.

The most famous groups of Hawaiian singers and instrumentalists who have appeared in this country are making Columbia Hawaiian records.

Helen Louise and Frank Ferera, Palie K. Lua and David Kaili, the Toots Paka Hawaiian Company and the Irene West Royal Hawaiian Troupe can all be heard on Columbia Records—on records so clear and true to life that you really hear the playing of the artists themselves. Famous artists, perfect reproduction—that's what the "music-note" trade-mark means.

RUSSIANS STORM TEUTON POSITIONS

First Line Trenches of Austro-Germans Taken West of Lutsk—Comparative Quiet in Northern France.

New York, October 31.—(By Associated Press European Cable.)—West of Lutsk in Volhynia, the Russians have taken Austro-German trenches south of Sviniusky and repulsed counter attacks. On the Shara river, Berlin records Russian attacks were repulsed. In Galicia the Austro-Germans have checked attacks below Stanislau and occupied Russian positions in the Narayuvka region near Halicz.

On the Anglo-French front in France and Belgium there has been little except artillery work. The Germans shelled the British front around Ypres, and south of the Ancre, the positions at Stuff and Schwaben redoubts.

GROUND IS GAINED BY RUSSIAN TROOPS ON VOLHYNIA FRONT

Petrograd, October 31.—(Via London.)—A heavy attack, made yesterday by Russian forces in Volhynia, resulted in the capture of Austro-German first line trenches, the war office announced today. Counter attacks were repulsed by the Russians.

The Russian attack was on the front west of Lutsk, in the region of Pustonyty and Oshchest.

Following is the report of operations on the Russian front:

"In the direction of Lutsk, in the region of Pustonyty and Oshchest, south of Sviniusky, our detachments, after having destroyed the enemy's wire entanglements, captured his foremost trenches and consolidated themselves. Enemy counter attacks, made with the object of regaining the trenches captured by us in the region of Oshchest, were repelled by our fire.

"South of Brzezany, in the region of the villages Michishchuv and Lipsitadolna, the enemy after fierce artillery fire, launched a series of successive attacks on our positions, but all attacks were repelled by us.

"At about 4 o'clock in the afternoon the enemy, who attempted another attack, was again repelled by our reinforcements, which had been hurried up. We captured here a number of prisoners.

"North of the village of Svistelniki hand grenade fighting took place during the entire night, slackening in the morning.

"In the wooded Carpathians an artillery duel is taking place. Our scouts also are making reconnaissances."

ATTACKS REPULSED, GERMANS ASSERT.

Berlin, October 31.—(Via Sayville.)—Russian troops yesterday attacked the German lines near Krashin, in the Shara district, but met with a sanguinary repulse, according to today's army headquarters announcement.

Engagements in the Berestechk region, on the Lemberg front, in Galicia and along the upper Styr resulted favorably to the Germans. On the east bank of the Narayuvka, southeast of Lemberg, Turkish troops took several Russian positions.

Important heights further south were taken by German contingents, who repulsed Russian counter attacks, and captured four officers, 170 men and nine machine guns. Russian attempts to advance southwest of Stanislau were futile.

The statement follows:

"At dawn the Russians attacked our Shara position near Krashin, after a brief increase of fire, but were sanguinarily repulsed.

"Northwest of Berestochk, on the upper Styr, outpost engagements had a result favorable to us.

"On the west bank of the Narayuvka Turkish troops captured several advance positions of the enemy northwest of Molochov, at the point of the bayonet. Further south, German regiments took important positions on the heights west of Folv-Kashoiesne and repulsed Russian counter attacks. Four officers, 170 men and nine machine guns were brought in.

"Southwest of Stanislau an advance of Russian detachments was without success."

ARTILLERY ACTIVE IN NORTH FRANCE; INFANTRY QUIET

Paris, October 31.—The war office reports that there was no event of importance on the Somme or Verdun fronts last night except for active artillery fighting in the vicinity of Douaumont and Vaux before Verdun.

The announcement follows:

"Except for the artillery struggle, which continues in a lively manner on the right bank of the Meuse, in the sector of Douaumont and Vaux, no important events have been reported from the front as a whole."

"The day was relatively calm on the whole front," says the bulletin issued tonight by the war office. "Only fairly lively intermittent artillery fighting was reported in the regions of Sailly and St. Pierre Vaast wood."

London, October 31.—"With the exception of intermittent shelling on both sides there was nothing to report during the night," reads today's official British statement regarding operations on the Franco-Belgian front.

The bulletin from British headquarters in France issued tonight reads:

"Our artillery and trench mortars bombarded the enemy's lines today in the neighborhood of Hohenzollern and Labasse canal.

"There was considerable hostile shelling against our front in the Ypres area, at Hebuterne and south of the Ancre, especially around Stuff and Schwaben redoubts and the Regina trench. Otherwise there is nothing to report."

ALLIES REPULSED, BERLIN REPORTS.

Berlin, October 31.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—Attempts of the French-British troops on the Somme front near Les Boeufs and La Maisonette to advance yesterday were defeated by Germans, the war office announced today.

French attacks in the region of Ablaincourt and on both sides of the Chaulnes-Lihons road also were without success. The statement follows:

"Army Group of Prince Rupprecht: The activity of the fighting on the Somme was limited by unfavorable weather. Detachments of the enemy which advanced against our positions northeast and east of Les Boeufs were driven back by our fire. An attack of a French company against La Maisonette failed. Equally without success were attempts of hand-grenade squads to enter our new trenches south of Biaches. Attacks of stronger French forces against Ablaincourt and on both sides of the Chaulnes-Lihons road were not carried out, owing to our defensive fire.

"Army Group of the German Crown Prince: In the Meuse sector (Verdun front) it was quieter than on the preceding day. Only in the district of St. Mihiel did the artillery fire increase temporarily to greater violence."

RUMANIANS DRIVE TEUTONIC FORCES

sian official statement says, 300 additional Teuton prisoners being taken yesterday and four machine guns captured.

In the Rumanian province of Dobrudja it is said there is no change in the situation.

The statement on operations along the Rumanian front is as follows:

"Rumanian front, Transylvania: Enemy attacks in the region of Bushteni, in the Prahova valley, were repelled.

"In the region of Rumanian Kimpolung (Campulung), on the left bank of the River Alt, fierce battles continue.

"In the Jiul valley (Transylvania) the Rumanians continued to press the enemy towards the north and in this region they have taken further 300 prisoners and four machine guns.

"In Dobrudja there is no change."

RUMANIANS FAIL, GERMANS REPORT.

Berlin, October 31.—(Via Sayville.) Efforts of the Rumanians to recapture positions along the Transylvania frontier yesterday were without success, the war office announced today. Since October 10 the Austrians and Germans have captured more than 10,000 Rumanians.

The announcement follows:

"Army Group of Archduke Charles Francis: Quiet prevailed on the Transylvania eastern front. In the southern frontier mountain fighting goes on in spite of heavy fog and snow storms. North of Campulung, near Boerzeny and north of Orsova, the Rumanians attempted in vain to take back heights captured from them.

"Since October 10 General von Falkenhayn's army has captured 151 Rumanian officers, 9,920 men and much war material, including 37 cannon, 47 machine guns and one flag.

"Army Group of Field Marshal von Mackensen: The situation in Dobrudja is unchanged."

WINDER FOLKS TO HOLD QUIET ELECTION TODAY

Winder, Ga., October 31.—(Special.) The citizens of Winder will witness an unusual thing tomorrow from the standpoint of city politics. It has been many years since a city primary was held in Winder without a bitter fight either for mayor or alderman. But tomorrow the voters are quietly marching to the ballot box and casting their ballots for the same men, there not being any opposition to the ticket announced some two weeks ago.

Under the present administration, headed by Mayor W. O. Perry, it is said, Winder has enjoyed a greater portion of the existing prosperity than any two previous years of her history. Every effort was made to keep Mr. Perry in office another term, but he declined a second term. During his administration the tax rate has been reduced one-third, one of the best school buildings in the state erected, more than $600,000 additional taxable property put on the digest, the city's floating debt wiped out, a day current installed and paid for, three new manufacturing enterprises with capital of more than $100,000 organized, two of which are already in operation and the other to begin January 1. Seven thousand population within five years is the slogan here today.

Mr. L. A. House, president Farmers' bank, will take charge of the city government on January 1.

FAIR AT THOMASVILLE OPENS THIS MORNING

Thomasville, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—Thomasville is all ready for the opening of the Thomas County fair here tomorrow morning and never has the town gone so extensively into the business of decorating for an event. Every business house is in festive array and the whole town seems to have imbibed a holiday spirit. The entry lists for the fair have filled up rapidly and yesterday morning, two days before the opening of the fair, there were already more entries listed than there were when the fair opened last year. The railroads have all put on special rates for the remainder of the week and all indications point to a record crowd in attendance for all three days of the fair.

ORNSTEIN INSPIRED BY DARKTOWN RAG

you don't have to understand my sort of music to appreciate it—it comes from the soul."

"All right," I said, "play me four bars of jealousy, and that'll be enough for one night."

He laughed and said: "That would come under the head of anger," and proceeded to limber up his fingers.

He proceeded to play anger on the piano, and, fellow, let me tell you, that piano turned into a woman scorned. It emitted howls and yells and shrieks that no human being could be capable of. It got as mad as a fellow who has run into the same bill collector twice that he dodged three times. It made me mad to sit there and listen to it, and I know all the other folks on that floor were mad, too.

When he finished he was exhausted, and I guess the piano was in a similar state. Now, I know why he carries a professional piano tuner with him everywhere he goes.

The Professor Plays Love.

I said: "Professor, play love this time," and he started out right smoothly at first, then gradually increasing tempo and the other things that go with a love song. You know how it feels when your best girl sorter lingers on the minor chords in a song like "It's a Long, Long Trail?" Well, that's the way love felt with Mr. Ornstein at the piano.

Anger didn't have any music to it at all. Mr. Ornstein admitted that it wasn't supposed to be music. But love was filled with more tune and harmony than it is anywhere else besides on a piano, and I liked it so well that I got right friendly with Mr. Ornstein. I said: "Professor, now that you have been a good sport and played your best music for me, how would you like to go out and try my brand of entertainment a while and hear some ragtime?"

"Good," he said. "I don't know anything about your famous ragtime, but nothing would please me more tonight."

Police Barracks Visited.

We went to police headquarters first, and Chief Jett took us into the prison. In one of the cells there were four darkies arrested for drunk and disorderly conduct, and they were in no happy mood. I asked Mr. Ornstein if he wouldn't like to hear them sing, and he said it would be the joy of his life, so I held up a dime.

"Sing," I said, and they uncorked the close harmony.

"Johnson had an old gray mule,
And he hitched him to a cart;
He loved that mule
And the mule loved him
With all his mulish heart.
When the rooster crowed,
Old Johnson knowed
That the day was about to break.
He rubbed that mule
With a three-legged stool,
And curried him down with a rake."

There was one chunky darkey with a whisky husk on his voice that sang bass so deep that you could hear his socks growl. And a little squeaky negro sang tenor in one of those blue-note voices that sounds like a whippoorwill's wail. Toots Paka never had the blues half so bad as that jailhouse choir. They sang like they were singing for liquor they knew they weren't going to get.

"The wail of a dying race," said Mr. Ornstein, as he clasped his hands and lifted his eyes in ecstacy.

"Naw, sir," said one of the negroes, "Darktown Blues. Here's another:

"I had a gal,
Named E-liz-a-beth;
I treat her so mean,
She most loves me to death.
Shout, mourners, you shall be free."

"To think that such as this existed and I never heard it until now," la-laed Mr. Ornstein as he ran his fingers through his long hair and begged for more, feeding dimes by the handful through the bars.

Finds New Inspiration.

He gurgled his appreciation, clapped his hands and shook mine in gratitude for bringing him to this "sublime source of atmosphere." I told him he ought to see and hear Butler street on a Saturday night, failing to mention the smell. Then we went down to the female negro ward, and a Mary Queen Elizabeth came to the bars and said:

"Mister, is you got a dime?"

Then another one came, and said to Mr. Ornstein when she saw his long hair:

"Mister, is you a woman?"

He laughed, and she said she bet that that was what they had him in for—being a man in woman's clothes. He actually saw the humor of it, and gave her a dollar and she said: "Now, I know you ain't no woman."

Later on we went to 81 Decatur, where there is a negro vaudeville show, which was just starting when we walked in and stood at the rear. A negro buck and wing dancer was on the stage, and the pianist was whipping out a draggy rag that seeped into the shoulders and ankles. Before I knew it, Mr. Ornstein was swaying his shoulders and rolling his eyes toward the ceiling.

A big, fat high-yellow came out on the stage after a while and sang in alto:

"I wonder where my lovin' man am gone;
He done lef' my brand-new watch in pawn.
(It had an Elgin movement,
With a new improvement.)
Tell me, have you seen
That handsome Sammy Green. . . ."

Mr. Ornstein shouted with glee. He was like a boy seeing his first circus Pretty soon he got to be as big a show to the negroes as they were to him. But he didn't care. He said he was having the time of his life. So was I—watching him. I said: "Between your music and your laughing, I'm having a fine time tonight, myself."

We left the Great Black Way and got on the Great White Way. When I left him in his suite at the Piedmont I got to the elevator and heard his piano going, but it wasn't love or anger or anything like that. There are no notes on this typewriter, but here are how the words to what he was playing start out:

"I wonder where my lovin' man am gone,
He done lef' my brand-new watch in pawn."

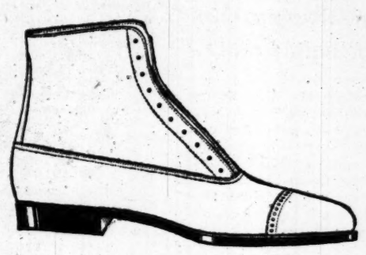

I hope I didn't do anything wrong carrying him down along Decatur street. Reckon I did?

A Laxative for Babies Good for Everybody

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin a Safe and Efficient Family Remedy.

Every member of the family is more or less subject to constipation and every home should always be supplied with a dependable remedy to promptly relieve this condition. Whenever the bowels become clogged and the natural process of elimination thereby disturbed, the entire system is affected, and readily subject to attack by disease. Constipation is a condition that should never be neglected.

Mrs. E. R. Gilbert, of Millbro, Va., says that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a splendid laxative for children because they like its pleasant taste, and it acts so easily and naturally, without griping or strain, and she finds it equally effective for the rest of the family.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that contains no opiate or narcotic drug. It is mild and gentle in its action, and does not cause pain or discomfort. Druggists everywhere sell this excellent remedy for fifty cents a bottle.

To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure you get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. MRS. CARO DU BIGNON IS CALLED BY DEATH

Widow of Well-Known Georgia Lawyer and Statesman Dies Suddenly.

Mrs. Caro Lamar du Bignon, 61 years old, widow of the late Hon. Fleming Grantland du Bignon, died suddenly Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the residence, 59 Peachtree place. She had been ill for some time, but it was not expected that she was so near death.

The family removed to Atlanta from Savannah in 1902. Mr. du Bignon was one of the best known lawyers in the state. He served in the legislature and was president of the state senate. He was at one time general counsel of the Plant System of railroads, and until a short time before his death in 1909 was general counsel for the Southern Express company.

Mrs. du Bignon's father, Charles A. L. Lamar, of Savannah, was the last person killed in battle in the civil war. He was a lieutenant colonel and was killed on the bridge over the Chattahoochee river at Columbus, Ga. Her mother was Mrs. Caroline Nicol Lamar, whose father was U. S. district judge at Savannah for a number of years.

Mrs. du Bignon was a member of All Saints parish. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Robert C. Alston, Miss Nan du Bignon and Mrs. W. C. A. Henry, of Columbus, Ohio; one son Charles du Bignon, of Moultrie, Ga., and two sisters, Mrs. T. M. Cunningham and Mrs. Charles B. Malone, both of Savannah.

The funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the residence, 59 Peachtree place. The body will be taken to Savannah at 9 o'clock Wednesday night, and interment will be in Laurel Grove cemetery.

OCTOBER CLEARINGS BREAK ALL RECORDS FOR PREVIOUS YEARS

The Atlanta Clearing House association announced Tuesday that the clearings for October were the biggest ever recorded in Atlanta. The total for the first ten months of the year best 1915 by $17,087,549.80. It amounted to $756,381,782.43, and bankers Tuesday said they wouldn't be surprised if Atlanta reached its first billion-dollar clearing year, when a total is struck on the first of the year.

The month's clearings were $131,301,141.98. In October last year they were $84,593,152.12. The increase was $46,707,989.86, or more than 50 per cent.

The best month before this was immediately preceding it, for September clearings were $91,998,202.57.

Following shows clearings for the ten months of this year, with comparative figures for the same month last year:

Months.	1916.	1915.
January	$ 73,631,151.18	$61,317,791.38

HARRIS CONGRATULATED.

Hundreds of Friends Call on New Tax Collector Tuesday.

Lucien Harris, the newly appointed tax collector of Fulton county, was probably the busiest man in the county Tuesday. In addition to making bond and being sworn into office by Chairman Tom Winn, of the board of county commissioners, he received the congratulations and good wishes of hundreds of friends.

Among the people who saw him in person or called him on the telephone were many of Mr. Stewart's friends and supporters. Others were friends and admirers of Mr. Harris' father, "Uncle Remus," the assurances of support coming from all sections of the county.

Mr. Harris made his formal announcement yesterday and reiterated his belief that the voters would confirm the indorsement of Mr. Stewart's administration, given at the primary, and carry out Mr. Stewart's wish that Mr. Harris be his successor.

One of the most gratifying indorsements he received and one which he prizes highly was that from Tull C. Waters, who wrote him the following letter:

Atlanta, Ga., October 31, 1916.—Mr. Lucien Harris, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Lucien: It is with the deepest regret that I learned while out of the city yesterday of the death of my lifelong friend, Andy Stewart, who was my first employer when I was only 14 years old, and who has ever since been my best friend and guardian.

I take this opportunity of expressing to you my earnest desire that you offer yourself for election to fill the term of office for which my friend was elected at the last primary. Mr. Stewart often told me while I was a member of the board of county commissioners that in the event of his death he wished the appointment of his chief deputy, Lucien Harris, to fill the office, expressing to me the belief that you, having the years of training under him, would guarantee to the working people, and, in fact, all classes, the same lenient, fair and impartial treatment in this office which had been his policy.

I take this occasion to offer you, for the reason above stated, my earnest support and promise to do everything in my power to carry out my friend's wishes, and by so doing, in my opinion, serve the masses of the people of Fulton country. Very truly yours, TULL C. WATERS.

GENERAL UNREST AMONG NEGROES FEARED IN MACON

Macon, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—Fearing that the general unrest among the negroes of the city and the efforts that are being put forth on the part of the authorities to keep them from being transported from Macon to the north, may result in a riot which the city authorities will not be able to cope with, Chief of Police George S. Riley today recommended to the civil service commission that forty magazine rifles be purchased for the police department. At the present time the police only have their pistols and clubs.

Monday morning one thousand negroes congregated at the Southern railway depot expecting to leave for Michigan in a special train. The police dispersed them, but had difficulty in making several of them move on. Several arrests were made. It is said that a surliness now exists among a certain class of the negroes and the police want to be able to cope with any situation that may arise.

COST OF LIVING SOARS; BIG ADVANCE IN MONTH

"cash" stores, who, according to the figures, very often under-sell their single store competitor. With the individual quotations from each of the seven grocers, an average was found, and the figures above shown are based on this average.

Therefore, the table may be taken as the real price of the varied products in Atlanta's market today, and the real price which existed just thirty days ago.

Retailer Kicks on Prices.

But a strange thing was experienced by the reporter when taking over the telephone the prices quoted by the various grocers. Without an exception, they all registered a decided and a strong "kick" on prevailing prices! This seemed something of an oddity to the reporter, for, like all others, he believed that the grocer was the man getting rich on the increased price.

This is a mistake.

As much as the consumer regrets the rise in values, it is possible and even probable that the retail merchant regrets it more. And the reason is this: In a number of commodities where the price has risen, the increase to the consumer charged by the retailer is not a pro rata increase of the amount paid by the retailer to the wholesaler. Therefore the retailer is, for once in his life, the loser, so far as comparative prices are concerned.

Generally where an increase is registered, the retailer has increased the cost as much as he could afford to do, but this, according to some of them, is not sufficient to allow the same net gain which he received when prices were lower.

And for this reason, a number of the retailers are full of advice, good advice, too, to the consumers whereby they may reduce the cost of living. Their advice is merely a substitution of certain foods for others; a different manner, perhaps, in the preparation of the various products.

Substitute Cheaper Foodstuff.

Said one of the leading grocers: "Why can't people substitute fruits and vegetables, on which there has been little or no change in price, especially rice, for the higher priced meats and foodstuffs? Why not eliminate some of the fancy dishes and get back to certain of the staple stuffs which are known to be more nutritious, more inexpensive and by far more wholesome?" The suggestion is certainly apropos, for if the present rate of increase keeps up the situation in Atlanta and over the entire country will be such that it will amount to a disaster.

Another leading grocer suggests that the recent action of the German government in providing for a reduction of consumption and also of cost might be adopted here, both to the betterment of the health and the pocketbook.

"Just three items," he states, "can be changed in manner of preparation by the housewives of Atlanta in such a way as to furnish more nourishing and more appetizing dishes, and this at a decided saving. First, it has been found that the paring of either a sweet potato or an Irish potato, no matter with how much care it is done, results in a loss. This is unnecessary. Why not prepare the potatoes whole? Cook them with the jackets on. The same rule applies to apples. Especially with apples does a great deal of waste occur in the paring. The peeling of an apple has been said to contain a great amount of nourishment in itself."

And these suggestions come from the men to whose interest it is to increase the demand!

As another said, "I believe in prices affording a realization or a gain, but the way the people are having to pay for things now and the gain of the man in practical control of the market is unreasonable." He had particular reference to the sudden increase in the cost of sugar. The cost of this commodity and the practical famine existing in Atlanta today is the direct result of the operations of a few men who have established a practical "corner," it was said. Sugar is hardly to be had at all, and when gotten the retailer must pay a price far larger than he has known in many years.

Boarding House Stand-By.

Such a list as the above and such a story would be decidedly incomplete without mention of that great friend of the American, that great stand-by of the boarding house keeper, that product of products which has been made nearly immortal in the stories of O. Henry—that—often derided but most nutritious and delectable substance called, for want of a better name, a P-R-U-N-E.

There is less difference in the quotations on prunes by the grocers than there is on any other commodity. And, standing head and shoulders above most of the others in nutritive merit, prunes have not increased one cent!

Hurrah for prunes.

They may be had in Atlanta (the larger prunes) at an average price of 16 3-7 cents per pound.

With prunes appear rice and dried beans and peas. Rice shows a gain of 3-7 of a cent a pound in thirty days, beans are steady at 10 cents (lima variety), and peas show a slight gain of 2-3 of a cent per quart. In normal times this might be considered a gain, but with prices soaring and in contrast to the other commodities shown, it amounts to nothing.

The names of the concerns from which the figures were received, for obvious reasons, are withheld, but there is not a marked difference in the prices they gave except in a few cases.

Further rises in the prices of the above mentioned commodities are expected.

MOTHERS TRY THIS ON YOUR BABIES

Stop Torturing Your Darlings With Irritating Medicines for Colds, Croup, Etc.

Leave it to the kiddies and they will choose Eucapine Salve, the new and delightful pharmaceutical preparation that soothes instead of irritates, and heals instead of inflames. After the first trial, it is fun to watch the babies doctor themselves, rubbing Eucapine up their nostrils for a bad cold, or putting it on the back of their tongues for a sore throat or tonsilitis; or rubbing it on their chests and throats for a deep-seated cough. Their faces instantly reflect the delightful relief.

Your physician will tell you that Eucapine Salve is by far the best and safest home remedy, for he knows that it combines the soothing, healing and antiseptic qualities of Eucalyptus, Wintergreen, Menthol, Camphor and Pinus Sylvestris, with refined Petrolatum. Trial size, 10c; family jar, 25c; at drug stores everywhere.—(adv.)

Studebaker

Advance in Prices of Studebaker Cars

On or about December 1st, the prices of Studebaker cars—both the FOUR and the SIX—will be advanced from $75 to $100 over prevailing prices.

In the face of the rapid increase in the cost of the raw materials entering into the construction of Studebaker cars, present prices have been maintained. But now conditions in the industry have reached a point where Studebaker is forced to add a substantial increase to these prices.

For the past eighteen months there have been rapid advances in the cost of all raw materials entering into the manufacture of automobiles—especially on steel of all kinds, pig iron, castings, stampings, sheet metal, aluminum, leather and upholstering materials. And these advances range all the way from 40% to 150%.

Studebaker has always been satisfied with a small margin of profit—and you may rest assured that, even with a substantial increase over prevailing prices, both the FOUR and the SIX will still be the most powerful seven-passenger cars in the world at their prices. And you will still have to pay from $300 to $600 more to equal them in power, roominess, economy, beauty of design, and all-around dependability.

Our allotment of Studebaker cars at the present prices is very limited and is likely to be exhausted at any time. So, if you want to save from $75 to $100, we urge you to come in at once.

Beautiful Hallowe'en Ball At Piedmont Driving Club

All the spookiness of Hallowe'en symbolism with the beauty of the season's most resplendent flowers—chrysanthemums at their biggest and best; myriad lights under catheads and jack-o'-lanterns that cast mysterious shadows; a festive use of palms and smilax, and a gay company of four hundred people, the ladies in their handsomest costumes, were some of the elements contributing to the brilliance of the Hallowe'en dinner-dance last night at the Piedmont Driving club.

Hallowe'en Picture.

The ballroom was the scene of the most elaborate decoration, although the Hallowe'en scheme was continued throughout the club house with picturesque effectiveness.

In the ballroom the ceiling was concealed by a canopy of smilax, showered with big yellow and white chrysanthemums, and apparently flying through the air under the canopy were many witches riding on their brooms, the witches' strange transparencies through which shone mysterious lights. Cats' eyes, owls' eyes and jack-o'-lanterns winked from the canopy and out of the smilax which was twined around the pillars the length of the room.

Dinner was served in the ballroom to as many guests as could be seated there, and each table had as its centerpiece a cluster of magnificent yellow and white chrysanthemums. Witches, black cats and jack-o'-lanterns were favors and place cards, and the Hallowe'en colors were continued in detail of a delicious menu.

The loggia presented a garden-like scene, with palms, bay trees and smilax in luxuriance of green, out of which again shone the winking lights, and in the dining room and drawing room there was the same artistic use of the yellow and white chrysanthemums against a background of foliage plants.

The entire entertainment was one of the most brilliant and beautiful in the history of handsome functions at this delightful home of hospitality, and it was made the occasion of many parties in honor of visitors and debutantes.

Pan-Hellenic Holds Interesting Meeting.

The fraternity women of Atlanta held a large and enthusiastic meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. Omar F. Elder.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows, Miss Helen Prior, president; Miss Mary Lucy Turner, first vice president; Miss Vee Strickland, second vice president; Miss Willie Kate Travis, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Hayden Childs Jones, recording secretary.

Plans for the year's work were discussed and an interesting talk on the work of the Young Women's Christian Association was made by Mrs. Plato Durham, who represented the executive committee of the board of that organization. The Pan-Hellenic voted a hearty indorsement of the work planned by the Y. W. C. A. for the coming year, in which the fraternity women will assist them. The Pan-Hellenic also made plans for meetings at which they will make comfort bags and dressing supplies for the French soldiers in the hospitals.

At this meeting there were representatives from Alpha Chi Omega, Phi Mu, Alpha Delta Pi, Tri Delta, Chi Omega, Beta Sigma Omicron, Pi Beta Phi and Kappa Delta.

The meetings are open to all national fraternity women.

Hallowe'en Dance Bright Event at East Lake Country Club Last Night

The Hallowe'en dinner-dance was a beautiful event last night at East Lake Country club, the festive spirit of the fete day adding to the charm of the occasion.

Four hundred guests assembled at 8 o'clock for dinner and many bright parties were entertained.

An effective scheme of decoration throughout the clubhouse was in autumn leaves, palms and chrysanthemums and all of the symbols of Hallowe'en. Jack-o'-lanterns were seen amidst the foliage and peering from corners were black cats, owls, witches and other weird figures. Red carnations and yellow and red chrysanthemums were the centerpieces of the tables at which happy couples were seated for dinner in the palm room and ballroom, and Hallowe'en caps were the souvenirs.

The music of an accordion played by Pietro, the celebrated accordionist, for dancing was a bright feature of the evening, alternating with the orchestra.

Among those entertaining parties were Mr. Thomas Wilson, Mr. H. D. Carson, Mr. and Mrs. Berrien Moore, Mr. Paul H. Dobbin, Mr. H. A. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Leroux, Mr. H. P. Woodward, Mr. L. G. Williams, Mr. A. Cooledge, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Smith, Mr. W. O. Rogers, Mr. Thomas House, Mr. H. F. Dobbs, Mr. J. E. Kerr, Mr. J. M. Cooper, Mr. J. M. Kemp, Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Maya, Mr. B. C. 59 YEARS OLD, HALE AND HARDY

And Praises Cardui, Which She Says Pulled Her Through a Most Dangerous Period.

Mercer, Ky.—"About 15 years ago," writes Mrs. W. T. Ball, of this place, "I began suffering with change of life, and was suffering very much. . . . I began taking Cardui after having suffered for 3 years, and I was dreadfully nervous. Hardly felt like doing my work. Couldn't sleep well at nights. However, after several doses of Cardui I saw an improvement and in a few days I could do my work with ease and in two weeks I was able to walk six miles and went to the street fair at Central City and enjoyed myself. After using two bottles, I got my natural health and strength and it pulled me through that most dangerous of periods in a woman's life with no trouble or suffering.

I am now hale and hardy, and was 59 years old the 11th of this month. I will never cease praising Cardui, which did me so much good. It also saved my daughter's life when she had such a dreadful spell. . . ."

Over 40 years in use, Cardui has proven its efficacy as "the woman's tonic." If you are weak, and rundown, and suffer from symptoms of troubles peculiar to women, give Cardui a trial.

SOCIETY

Morris-Peake.

The marriage of Miss Mamie Morris and Mr. Thomas Taylor Peake was solemnized Tuesday at high noon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Morris, on Juniper street.

Dr. Arthur H. Gordon performed the impressive ceremony in the presence of relatives and intimate friends.

The event was characterized by elegance and simplicity of detail and the color motif of green and white was carried out in the decorations throughout the house. An improvised altar of stately palms and baskets of creamy white chrysanthemums and two candelabra burning white tapers marked the place of the ceremony in the drawing room. The chandeliers were entwined with southern smilax and the lights faintly concealed under silken shades.

Mrs. Leslie Thompson, of Montgomery, Ala., sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a beautiful gown of pink satin and Georgette crepe trimmed in silver lace, and a large silver hat completed the pretty costume, and her flowers were pink roses showered with valley lilies.

Master Morris Thompson, the bride's nephew, brought the ring in on a huge white chrysanthemum and was dainty in a white serge suit.

Mr. Guy Harper was best man.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Mr. James Randolph Morris, was lovely in a smart suit of brown velour worn with a dainty blouse to match and a becoming hat of brown velvet. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of valley lilies.

The bride's mother wore a handsome gown of black satin gracefully draped with black chiffon and touches of point lace.

A wedding breakfast and an informal reception followed the ceremony, the table in the dining room showing the wedding motif of white and green.

The central decoration was a large silver basket filled with white chrysanthemums, the handle caught with a fluffy bow of white tulle.

Miss Ruth Thompson and Miss Alma Higgins, wearing dainty gowns of taffeta, served punch.

A cordial interest centers in the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Peake, and the many friends of the bride regret that her marriage will take her to Richmond, Va., to live, where Mr. Peake holds a responsible position with the telephone company.

After the ceremony Mr. Peake and his bride left for a wedding trip of several weeks to Washington, New York and Norfolk.

For Miss Adams.

Miss May Crichton will entertain at dinner Sunday at her home on Piedmont avenue in compliment to Miss Eugenia Adams, of Greensboro, N. C.

Music in Atlanta.

The traffic manager of a well-known Georgia railroad qualified as a dyed-in-the-wool music lover yesterday when he subscribed for four pairs of season tickets to the Music Study club's series of artists' recitals. "This is all the enthusiasm I can arouse in my department," he said, in sending his check; "but if you have any difficulty in disposing of the required number, count me in for an additional pair, and I will find some one to give them to. This is Atlanta's real musical opportunity, and I am going to do my part in seeing that it is a success."

This is only one of a large number of equally enthusiastic responses to the campaign which the ladies of the Music Study club are conducting in behalf of their course of concerts. Music lovers have sprung up in the most unexpected places, and encouragement has come from sources where nothing was ever dreamed of.

"Our success in floating this series is most gratifying," said Mrs. Armond Carroll, president of the club. "We undertook the series with the knowledge that it would mean a hard fight for support; but we have been continually surprised at the eager response that has greeted our efforts. Many people in close touch with the musical situation in the city assured me that it was impossible to finance such a course in the face of grand opera week and the other demands already apparent. But the club members felt that Atlanta stood in serious need of chamber music opportunities, and so the series was arranged. We have not sold all the season tickets that are necessary, but these will come in the next two days, I feel sure."

Leo Ornstein, who will give the first recital of the series in Cable hall on Thursday evening at 8:30, is now on his way to Atlanta from Fort Worth, Texas, where he was given a wonderful reception. His recital has awakened the most intense interest among the local musicians, and his coming is anticipated with great interest.

All-Day Meeting.

The Woman's Missionary Society of St. John church will observe the week of prayer in an all-day meeting to be held at the church Friday, November 3, beginning at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Albright, Mrs. G. M. Eakes and other prominent speakers will take part in the program. All are most cordially invited to come and bring friends. Box lunch.

Y. W. C. A. Notes.

A class in the industrial and fine arts is offered at the Y. M. C. A. A great variety of articles for Christmas-giving will be made of leather, silk, paper, etc.

Also a class in millinery under Miss E. C. Foster, whose artistic work is so well known, has been organized and ladies who wish to make their own bonnets can bring their materials and learn the art of constructing a hat while they save the cost of a milliner's service. Terms for this course are very reasonable.

Basket weaving and embroidery are taught at hours to suit both home women and business women. Lamp shades, mats, baskets, trays, etc., are made at small cost.

Miss M. Alice Moore offers a thorough course in Spanish for both beginners and advanced pupils.

HALLOWE'EN OBSERVED BY PHOTO-DRAMA CLUB

"Hallowe'en" was celebrated with appropriate ceremonies at the regular meeting of the Photo Drama club of Atlanta last night at the Ansley hotel. In the absence of all the Scotchmen of the city at the Burns club celebration, the "Hallowe'en" poem of the great Scotch poet was read by an Irishman.

President Colquitt announced that arrangements had been perfected for the opening of a club room in the day for members of the club who wished to study the writing of photo-plays. The hotel parlors were handsomely decorated with flowers by the courtesy of the matron of the Soldiers' home.

Dainty Blouses: Newest Ideas.

Such a splendid collection of fascinating silk blouses has not been seen in this department for a long, long while.

Perhaps we have never shown such a variety of silks, so many different models, such colors and styles as this assembly embraces, and in drawing your attention to this special offering you are to consider the low price at which they are to be sold.

$5.75

A very modest price for such excellence—such style and such daintily finished waists.

And when you see them we have an idea that your enthusiasm will be quite as great as our own.

Georgette Crepe--Satin--Taffeta--Combinations of Georgette and Crepe de Chine--Georgette and Taffeta and Georgette with Satin.

Some have long, deep collars; others are shawl or sailor collars, and some have jabots and ruffles, while others have embroidered fronts.

The color scheme is varied. White, black, Burgundy, brown, navy, and a range of suit shades. It is also lavish, for the stripes and plaids combine such unusual and beautiful combinations as green and blue—blue and Burgundy—black and green—brown and Burgundy—black and white—and brown and blue.

And even these colors do not describe them all, but we want you to have some reward for anticipation—and that we promise.

Charming Dresses: If You Please

THE only reason they are so cheaply priced is due to the fact that only one or two of a style remain.

$16.75

But formerly sold at $21.75 and $24.75

And bear in mind that the styles are new—the fabrics new—the colors most desirable.

LODGE'S BAD BLUNDER.

It is too bad when political fervor reaches such a pitch and the despair of the office-seeker attains such an extreme as to prompt one, foremost of our citizenry, to traduce men in power, to the injury of the republic itself, in order to inflame the public mind against the governing administration and win mere votes.

We have before us the spectacle of Henry Cabot Lodge, United States senator, a leader, a man of thought and culture and brains—the one man in whose favor Theodore Roosevelt announced last June he would withdraw as a candidate for the republican presidential nomination—going through the country, from stump to stump, emulating the tactics of the guttersnipe politician, circulating a proven canard to the effect that President Wilson penned a disgraceful, vacillating postscript to one of his most powerful notes to Berlin, to the effect that the document should not be taken seriously. In other words, that the note concealed the administration's real sentiments—was written purely for "home consumption" and for political effect. Lodge is telling the people that this was told to him; that he does not doubt its truth; and asks the people to believe it!

He would weaken the position of his country and cripple it abroad merely for a few votes!

It is too shameful to contemplate!

Admitting, for the sake of argument, Lodge's charge against President Wilson to be true, what then?

It would be a mighty serious piece of business, not for Wilson, not for the democratic party, only, but for the United States—for our flag. It would place America in the position of a fawning, cringing, servile bluffer at the feet of every nation on the globe. It would seriously affect our standing abroad.

Yet, in his greed for political emolument, this man, possessing such damning information of state, would capitalize it from the stump and flaunt our calumny abroad in this crisis—for the sake of a few votes! The shame—the pity of it!

But to make it all the worse, the thing itself is a lie—proven to be one. It hasn't the ring nor the semblance of truth in it. Hence the Lodge attack is more than cowardly—it is treasonable!

Lodge's alleged original informant is a Dr. Charles H. Bailey, partisan of Charles E. Hughes, the republican nominee for president, who is alleged to have written the purported fact to one Grafton Cushing as having been told to him during a day's acquaintance on a passenger train from San Francisco, by former Assistant Secretary of War Henry Breckenridge; Bailey telling Cushing that Breckenridge told him that he (Breckenridge) had seen the postscript in question and heard it discussed in terms of disgust by cabinet members. Then Cushing communicated the morsel to Lodge.

Without any attempts at verification, Lodge repeated the letter to an audience. Instantly, of course, it was grabbed up by the Hughes managers and flashed by wire from corner to corner of the continent—and, far worse, of the world!

Instantly, too, back from California—where he is sojourning—came this message from Mr. Breckenridge to the purported original author of the libel, Dr. Bailey:

"Your letter to Grafton Cushing is a jumble of false statements, and you are an unconscionable wretch for uttering it!"

President Wilson and members of his cabinet at the time of the alleged occurrence has denied in toto the foul aspersions—proven them to be just that and nothing more; but still Lodge goes on arguing from the rostrum that they must be true, and still trying to make out of such political filth votes for Hughes and the republican party!

The thing is unthinkable. And certainly Senator Lodge, thinking, conservative man that he has always been thought to be, after weighing this matter and its possible consequences, pondering what it might lead to, will be sorry. Such rashness, such blind jumping at conclusion, is not becoming a United States senator. Surely he will repent and regret it.

And out of charity to him and his forlorn cause, let us attribute the whole unfortunate incident to the fever of the moment and regard it as a spontaneous act like that of a drowning man when he frantically clutches the first chip that floats within arm's reach—and let it go at that.

COSTUMING THE COLONEL.

What! A Georgia Colonel, of the Governor's staff, without gold braid, plume and tinsel? Perish the idea! It cannot be!

Governor Harris, the federal authorities having decreed against the wearing of United States army regimentals or navy togs by members of a state executive's staff, save "those detailed from the national guard and the United States volunteer army," has determined to importune the congress "for an exception as to governor's staff." That failing, the governor is officially reported to be "thinking of having new uniforms prescribed, not in conflict with the federal law."

Thus, uniformed the Georgia Colonel is bound to be. The dignity, the knightliness and the pulchritude of the Empire State of Dixie is in safe hands still! It perhaps would suffer were a less determined guardian of tradition at the helm of the state; but as it is, all is well.

Another probably would have bowed gracefully to the edict from the head of the American army, banning the Colonel's trappings, and let it go at that. Few would have had the temerity to invoke a special dispensation from the national congress.

Of course, the congress may demur to the point of refusing the governor's proposed request. But, pshaw! What of it? Think of the possibilities in the executive's having "new uniforms" for his Colonels, made "not in conflict with the federal law!"

The traditional use of the army uniform, now taboo, is too circumscribing; the U. S. A. soldier's raiment is by far too conservative, too commonplace, fittingly to set forth the grace and uphold the peculiar dignity of a Colonel on the governor's staff!

What else does a Colonel stand to get out of his job—than the opportunity on occasion to swell his chest to bursting in a tinseled bodice; to head the parade with his heraldic plume nodding in the line of march; with the sun glinting from spangles and making the gold of his epaulets shimmer in a manner that might have made even Midas jealous. That's all the pay he gets; he has no perquisites, no emoluments of office outside of that.

So, if congress proves obdurate, not to say stubborn, in this matter, here is Georgia's golden opportunity. It is the opportunity of a generation for showing the Colonel just what we think of him, and how we think he ought to be outfitted in proper keeping with his post.

Let the governor call a conclave of the foremost and best and most distinguished tailors and designers of apparel, and out of that conclave let come a creation by way of physical adornment for our Colonels that will put that of the Indian princes in the shade. Let us have a uniform for our Colonels that will make the glittering habiliment of the plumed knight of heraldry seem like burlap, and that will cause even the parading Shriner or Pythian to go home immersed in the chagrin of having been outstripped.

Long live the Georgia Colonel, and in all his splendid, glinting, bespangled splendor! Now is the opportunity to increase his already too small compensation by bedecking him in the hues of the rainbow, and braiding him with the glittering ribbons of Hindu royalty—in a uniform that will not conflict with the army regulation, but that will make an officer in the regular service green with envy at the contrast.

THE LIFE OF A SONG.

Eben E. Rexford, dead at his home in the far west, was the author of a simple song, "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

He wrote much on other subjects mostly of flowers and gardening, but all were contributory to love of life and the beauty which goes hand in hand with gracious things.

Few people who sing today to the music of that little song of his about the glimmer of the gray in Love's golden hair know the name of the author; and yet there are humble life-romances to which the song has given color.

For it touched the universal chord which does not stale with Time—because of that sweet simplicity and tenderness of Truth whose dwelling is in the heart.

The singer passes, and his song goes on.

What the business of the world has falsely called "sentiment" will keep the singer's name; for minds that are all littered with business have unseen corners where just such gentle things hold court and make life worth the living. We clink the same homegate behind us and wait the welcome of the same home-voices. We are all so close together!

So the singer of the song that has known a life-renewal in the quarter century since Eben E. Rexford gave us its music of simple love, and faithfulness, and trust, whether he be nameless to the many, is forever a guest at the world's fireside of Love.

Kipling has written a poem on England as the "doorkeeper of Zion." But if she lands that high she'll annex the country; and the rest of us will have to crawl through a crack in the fence.

The testimony of permanent prosperity is that Hughes' hammer didn't hit to hurt.

"Football by mail" won't work. You've got to kick in.

The Rumanians are not advanced in baseball, but all agree that they are making great home runs.

Must hand it to cotton for doing its best for the land that raised it so high.

CO-OPERATIVE BODY IS URGED BY EXPERT FOR FOREIGN TRADE

Garrard Harris, special agent of the United States bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, who is spending two days in the city under orders from the chief of the bureau in Washington, was the guest at a luncheon on Tuesday held in the directors' room of the chamber of commerce. A number of Atlanta business men, who are interested in the export trade to the West Indies and the countries of Latin America, were present to meet Mr. Harris.

Mr. Harris, who has traveled extensively in all these countries, and will soon return to continue his work, gave an interesting talk touching the export trade. He stressed the fact that the present moment should be utilized for the inauguration of business, showing how the large importers were now ready and anxious to open relations with the manufacturers of the United States, especially on account of the war in Europe. This war has practically stopped all business of Central and South America and the West Indies with England, Germany and the other belligerents.

Co-operation Suggested.

Mr. Harris suggested the formation of a sort of co-operative company or association composed of business men who are desirous to open up this trade, and which would send experts to the field not only for the purpose of studying conditions at first hand but also for making business acquaintances and establishing actual business relations.

He stated that similar organizations had been effected and found of great value in other cities, and he felt sure that such a one would be of much value to the interested manufacturers of Atlanta.

The idea was approved by President Kriegshaber and several others of those present, a number of whom expressed the desire to discuss the matter with Mr. Harris in greater detail.

Prominent Men Present.

Besides the guest of honor and President Kriegshaber, there were present at the lunch C. C. Lynd of the American Rolling Mill company, Charles F. Stone of the Atlantic Steel company, W. D. and A. G. Couch of Couch Brothers Manufacturing company, Mr. Thirlkeld of the Dixie Culvert and Metal company, F. M. Marsh of the Atlanta Table company, J. B. Fitch of the D. D. Felton Brush company, S. Jankins of the Paris Broom Manufacturing company, W. O. Steele of the All-Star Manufacturing company, E. D. Sturdivant of the American Bakeries company, S. S. Addis of the Withers Foundry and Machine company, Professor J. A. Campoamor, manufacturers' broker, and Harvey Johnson, secretary of the industrial bureau.

SOUTHERN BANKERS TO MEET IN ATLANTA FOR CONFERENCE

Noteworthy in an industrial way for Atlanta and Georgia will be the second annual session of the Cotton States Bankers' conference, which is said to be certain to meet this year in Atlanta, probably about December 15. The probability of the 1916 conference being held here was verified by word received yesterday by William L. Peel, a member; Haynes McFadden, editor of The Southern Banker, and Fred Houser, secretary of the Atlanta Convention bureau.

The history of the organization dates from December 6-7, of last year, when two hundred bankers, representative of every section of the south, met upon mutual agreement in New Orleans. The meeting resolved itself into a permanent organization "for the promotion of diversification in farming; the production of live stock and food crops, the gradual marketing of cotton, the construction of country warehouses, the restriction of cotton acreage and death to the boll weevil."

Among the two hundred men participating in the organization of the permanent conference were nine presidents of bankers' associations of the south, speeches of an optimistic nature were made, and the new organization was launched with considerable enthusiasm.

Colonel William L. Peel, Atlanta, attended the meeting, and he went especially authorized by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, the governor of the state and the Atlanta Clearing House association to invite the bankers here for their second convention. This he did, but after the organization was formed the matter of selecting a convention city for 1916 was left to the president elected, who is Joseph Hirsch, of Texas. Mr. Hirsch at that time virtually promised Mr. Peel that Atlanta would be selected, and subsequent confirmation received from him has been such that plans already are under way for the entertaining of the visitors—of which there will be not less than two hundred—during next December.

One feature of the entertainment definitely decided upon will be a visit to the great plant of the Atlanta Warehouse company, known as the Candler cotton warehouse.

Morehead Wright, Arkansas, is secretary of the conference, Oscar Newton, Mississippi, treasurer, and a vice president is upon the list of officers from each of the following states represented upon the membership roll: Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas. The Georgia vice president is John H. Reynolds, of Rome.

Rural School Children Have Defective Teeth

A recent investigation made by the United States public health service in connection with studies of rural school children showed that 49.3 per cent had defective teeth, 21.1 per cent had two or more missing teeth, and only 16.9 per cent had had dental attention. Over 14 per cent never used a tooth brush, 58.2 per cent used one occasionally and only 27.4 per cent used one daily. Defective teeth reduce physical efficiency. Dirty, suppurating, snaggle-toothed mouths are responsible for many cases of heart disease, rheumatism and other chronic affections. The children are not responsible for the neglected state of their teeth. The ignorant and careless parent is to blame for this condition—a condition which hampers mental and physical growth and puts a permanent handicap on our future citizens. School teachers can and are doing much in inculcating habits of personal cleanliness on the rural school child, but this will fail of the highest accomplishment unless parents co-operate heartily and continuously. This is a duty which we owe our children.

Oldest Fort in New World.

(From The National Geographic Magazine.)

It is a fascinating experience to visit Santo Domingo and wander amid the ruins of the ancient city—from the fortifications of Homenaje, the oldest in the new world, to the first stone church built on this side of the Atlantic, and to the tomb of the great discoverer. Nowhere else in this hemisphere are there scenes fraught with more historical significance to Americans than here where Columbus had his tour of triumph and his hour of sorrow, and where, when he had embarked upon the great voyage from which he would never return to endure the fickle favor of petty princes, his ashes finally found repose.

LITTLE LIKELIHOOD OF KILLING FROST UNTIL LATER THAN USUAL THIS YEAR, DECLARES LOCAL WEATHER FORECASTER

By C. F. von HERRMANN,
(In Charge of U. S. Weather Bureau.)

There is at present no immediate prospect for colder weather at Atlanta, and consequently the first killing frost will probably be considerably delayed beyond the average date, November 1. A killing frost is defined as one which will cause the death of relatively hardy vegetation, including the staple crops as cotton, corn, etc. The average date of the last killing frost in spring for Atlanta and vicinity is March 24, and of the first in autumn, about November 1. The average length of the growing season is therefore about 220 days. Owing to the hilly nature of the surrounding country there are localities in the neighborhood where spring frosts occur later and fall frosts much earlier. The earliest date for the last killing frost in spring is February 15, 1880; the latest date in spring is April 17, 1905. The earliest date for the first killing frost in fall is October 11, 1906, while in the year 1889 no killing frost occurred until November 29. Very light frosts, however, have occurred as late as June 1 and as early as September 27.

What Is Frost?

The fact that November 1 is about the average date of the first killing frost at Atlanta, and the consideration that from the point of view of agricultural interests the dates of the last frost in spring and the first in autumn are of considerable practical importance, lends interest to the question, What is frost?

Frosts are often reported by the weather bureau when the lowest temperature for the night or early morning has been only as low as 40 degrees, and this leads many to believe that frost can form without a temperature low enough to form ice, or 32 degrees Fahrenheit. A moment's consideration, however, will lead one to the correct idea. Frost is frozen water or ice, and ice cannot form under any circumstances unless the temperature falls to the freezing point of water, or 32 degrees. Consequently on every occasion where frost is noted, the temperature at the place where the frost formed must have been 32 degrees or lower, no matter what the temperature above the ground may have been.

Under certain circumstances frost may form with temperatures above the ground as high as 45 to 40 degrees, but invariably at the surface where the frost is seen the temperature has fallen to 32 degrees or freezing. This oddity results from the fact that in winter when the weather is cold, the temperature becomes lowest at the immediate surface of the ground by radiation through the clear atmosphere, while above the ground the air is not cooled so much. In riding through the country on cold nights everyone has noticed how cold it becomes in the low places and how much warmer on the hills. Therefore always build your house on a hill.

How Does Frost Form?

How does frost form? By the cooling of the air, which always contains moisture. Now, the cold may be imported, that is, come from the west or northwest with a cool wave, or it may result from radiation from the ground to space on quiet, clear, cool nights. In either case the air near the surface of the ground, or on tin roofs, etc., gradfually becomes cooled below the dew point, and then the moisture begins to be deposited out of the air on the cooled object. If the dew-point (temperature at which moisture begins to be condensed) lies above 32 degrees, then the moisture is first deposited as dew; but as the cooling continues the dew becomes frozen and is then termed frost. But the dew-point may lie below 32 degrees, in which case the moisture is deposited out of the air at once as ice-crystals (not first as dew).

The conditions most favorable for frost are a clear sky, quiet atmosphere and a moderate degree of humidity in the air. But in our vicinity the cooling is caused mostly by the importation of cold air from the northwest, and we frequently have considerable frost though the wind may be quite brisk.

Four Light Frosts This Year.

Up to date this fall Atlanta has experienced only four light frosts in low places, namely on October 18, 21, 22 and 23, during which the lowest temperature as reported by the weather bureau was only 36 degrees (21st), but at the point where the frosts were first noted the temperature in every case undoubtedly fell to 32 degrees, the difference being accounted for by the difference in the elevation above the ground.

A great deal of labor has been expended in searching for means of protecting certain crops from the injurious effects of late spring or early autumn frosts. The principles discovered are practically applied to the protection of citrus fruits in Florida and lower California, applies in the northwest, peaches in New Jersey, and so forth. That this work might be profitably extended in Georgia is without question, though considerable use is being made in the state of the frost warnings, especially by sugarcane growers in the southern counties, and by truck growers and market gardeners.

GEORGIA HAS SUBSCRIBED $5,000 MORE TO DEMOCRATIC FUND THAN IN 1912

---John D. Walker

Georgians to date have subscribed to the national democratic campaign fund more than $5,000 in excess of the total amount subscribed from this state to the fund in 1912, according to a statement made yesterday by John D. Walker, Sparta, Georgia representative of the finance committee of the national democratic committee.

"Up to Monday night," said Mr. Walker, "the total subscriptions to the fund in Georgia had reached $18,649.66. Of this sum, approximately $10,000 has been realized from the sale of Wilson buttons. There has been one subscription for $1,000, that the largest single donation we have received. The amounts have ranged from that on down to a few cents. Funds keep coming in daily, of course, as they will continue to do until the day of election; and in addition to the amount received to date we have outstanding between $5,000 and $8,000 subscribed but not yet paid in. Every cent of this, however, I feel sure will be paid in. Every cent of it, too, will be needed, because the campaign expenses necessarily are heavy and there undoubtedly will be a number of bills to meet after the votes have been counted.

Special Interests Financing Hughes.

"I hope all democrats will bear in mind the fact that we have arrayed against us this year the most enormous campaign fund in the history of American political campaigns. The republicans seem to have a bottomless barrel, kept filled by a comparatively few heavy donators who give freely in the hope of getting it all back in the form of privilege in the event of Hughes' election. The democrats get, of course, nothing from this or similar sources, and must make the campaign for Wilson upon money given in small amounts by the rank and file of the people, who expect nothing in return save prosperity and good government.

"I am very decidedly pleased with the progress we have made thus far, and especially am I gratified with the way the work has gone here in Atlanta and the manner in which the funds have come in through the headquarters maintained by Mrs. Martin.

Women Raise $1,754.

Up to last night, Mrs. Martin has taken in and banked to the credit of the democratic national committee, through Mr. Walker, a total of approximately $1,754.

Professor E. L. Martin, her husband, returned yesterday from an organizing tour of fifteen north Georgia counties; and as a result of his work, clubs were organized in various places, funds raised, and arrangements made with civic organizations of various kinds, including women's clubs, boy scouts, camp-fire girls, school children, etc., to sell buttons for the benefit of the fund.

To Make United Effort To Locate Government Nitrate Plant in Georgia

A conference was held in the offices of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce Tuesday afternoon looking to the joining hands of all forces in the state for a determined fight to secure the government nitrate plant for Georgia. The conference was a result of a request from the Rome Chamber of Commerce on the subject, and a committee composed of Congressman Gordon Lee and T. E. Grafton, secretary of the Rome Chamber of Commerce, and others from Rome, came to Atlanta and had a conference with officials of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, seeking the assistance of that organization in making the matter a state-wide fight. The Georgia Chamber of Commerce was represented in the conference by President C. J. Haden, E. Y. Clarke and H. G. Hastings. The Atlanta chamber was represented by President V. H. Kriegshaber and Walter G. Cooper.

Mr. Grafton presented facts and figures to show that no water power development as large as that in north Georgia could be found anywhere in America.

Why Gold Pieces Are Always "Doctored."

(From Popular Science Monthly.)

Why don't jewelers make up $10 and $20 gold pieces in order to use the metal in the manufacture of gold jewelry? Indeed, gold pieces were used some 40 years ago bu enterprising jewelers and with success, too—until the practice was stopped in a very novel, but effective way. In those days jewelers bought enough $10 and $20 gold pieces for the work in hand. The gold was melted, the necessary alloys were added, and all manner of fine Etruscan work was turned out.

It was not long, however, before the government began to wonder what was becoming of its gold pieces. The officials knew the people were not hoarding gold, so a quiet investigation took place. It was then discovered that the makers of gold jewelry were to blame. Having found the cause, it was not difficult for the officials to find a cure. They did it by "peppering" the coins with iridium. Resembling black emery in the crude state, iridium requires a heat of 3,542 degrees Fahrenheit, to melt it. Gold, on the other hand, can be melted at 1,913 degrees Fahrenheit. It is easy to see, then, how the unsuspecting jeweler, melting up his gold pieces at the temperature required, got a large number of unmelted specks of iridium in his metal when it cooled.

You can imagine his dismay when his analysis and deductions revealed that he had been trapped.

Canea, Capital of Crete, Becomes Point of Interest Owing to Troubles in Greece

The intense partisanship of the Cretans during the crisis in Greece's international affairs makes the cities of this historic island of timely interest in the study of war geography. A bulletin of the National Geographic society, issued in Washington, gives a word picture of the island's capital and chief seaport, Canea.

"While not enjoying the advantages of a safe roadstead itself, Canea, the capital of Crete since 1841, is situated on the Akrotiri peninsula, only four and a half miles from Suda bay, which, with a water area of eight and a half square miles, is the only harbor on the island where a large fleet can ride in safety in all kinds of weather. When the seas are calm steamers anchor from four to five miles off shore from Canea, which is 25 miles from the northwestern extremity of the island, but during storms the Akrotiri headland is rounded and safety is found in Suda bay, whence passengers are transported overland to the capital.

"Canea is a congested city of low, white-washed houses with an occasional minaret breaking the monotony of the skyline. Extensive fortifications, now in a dilapidated condition, are the relics of four centuries of Venetian rule on the island The modern buildings include an arsenal, military and civil hospitals, and numerous soap factories in which olive oil, produced on the island, is used extensively.

"East of the city, which has a population of 25,000, is an extensive plain of great fertility and in this region is the attractive suburb known as Chalepa or Kalepa, where the foreign consuls and most of the well-to-do merchants reside.

"Canea occupies the site of the ancient city of Cydonia, which differed from the other Cretan cities of its time in that it was situated on the shore, while Cnossus, Phaestus and other famous centers of population were located some distance inland, varying from three miles in the case of Cnossus to many times that number in other instances.

"A destructive earthquake visited Canea sixty years ago and it still bears the scars of this calamity.

"As a tribute to the fertility of the fruit orchards in the vicinity of the Cretan capital our common quince bears the classical cognomen 'Cydonia cydonia.'

"Seventy miles east of Canea is the island's city of second commercial importance and the former capital, Candia."

Positively.

(From an Exchange.)

"My daughter cannot exist without at least three servants," said the proud mother to her future son-in-law.

"Leave that to me," answered the young man.

"But will you be able to provide them for her?"

"No, but I will be able to prove conclusively that she can exist with only one!"

LITTLE LOCALS ABOUT THINGS OF CITY INTEREST

Elaborate dramatic exercises will accompany the conferring of the Master Mason's degree upon a large class of candidates Friday night at 8 o'clock by Palestine lodge, No. 486, in the Masonic Temple.

The program will be presided over by Worshipful Master W. J. Haygood, Jr., assisted by the past masters and officers of the lodge.

A musical program will be rendered by the temple choir and by a quartet composed of Howard Davis, Clifford Irons, Charles Brown and W. M. Bearden. Other singers will be W. J. Hubbard, J. A. Martin, J. H. Mullen and L. W. Hubbard. The choir will be accompanied by a complete orchestra under the direction of Paul M. Hubbard.

The cast of characters for the dramatic production will be include the following Masons: W. A. Haygood, Jr., David E. Shumake, C. E. Robertson, W. W. Orr, Joseph M. Bart, W. D. Phipps, S. A. Bookheimer, Paul M. Hubbard, Lester S. Crane, Charles M. Marshall, Myers Loverless, J. B. Jackson, Perry Bloodworth, J. L. Holcombe, Custis Anderson and others.

At the outbreak of the European war, in 1914, thousands of Americans had a regular "old boy" of a time going where they wanted to in Europe and colonial possessions of the belligerents, but it was easy enough if one happened to be as lucky as was Fuller E. Callaway, of LaGrange, who happened to be in Egypt at that time.

Mr. Callaway, a former member of the Georgia railroad commission, called at the office of the commission Wednesday and while there exhibited a card bearing the following inscription: "To introduce Mr. Callaway of Georgia. Field Marshal Viscount Kitchener of Khartoum. United Service Club."

This did the work.

Mrs. E. E. Hughley, president, and Mrs. H. A. Talley, vice president, of the Atlanta Circle of Mystery, stated last night that the third annual "Witches' day" had proven very successful for the Atlanta Child's home, Angier avenue.

"We cannot state just what amount of money was raised by selling tags on the streets of the city," said Mrs. Talley, "but we have a large sum on hand to turn over to the home. We desire to thank the people of Atlanta for giving so liberally to the 'witches' who solicited alms on the streets Tuesday."

When Atlanta awoke Tuesday and rubbed its eyes scores of girls were found at all downtown street corners selling tags. The girls were dressed as witches, and wore masks.

Local federal revenue authorities were notified yesterday that Dr. H. W. Watson, colored, recently indicted by the federal grand jury here on charges of violations of the Harrison anti-narcotic drugs act, has been arrested at Hannibal, Mo., and is being held to await instructions from this office. He will be brought back at once for trial.

Watson was caught not long ago in the dragnet spread by Revenue Agent E. C. Yellowley and Collector of Internal Revenues A. O. Blalock, and their respective forces, for illicit purveyors of opiates and other inhibited narcotic drugs. He was indicted by the federal grand jury, but before he could be arrested had fled the city.

Flareback cases were instituted in connection with recent procedure against strike sympathizers, when J. J. Foster yesterday issued warrants against R. E. Garrett and A. J. Hurst, Georgia Railway and Power company linemen, charging them with perjury.

Garrett and Hurst, it is stated, testified in recent court proceedings that Foster had called them "scabs," for which he had been arrested. Foster denied the charge, and was acquitted in the superior court.

The warrants were issued in municipal court, and the cases will come to trial this morning. Among the witnesses subpoenaed is Recorder George Johnson.

Representative John B. Hutcheson, of Turner county, has resigned and his resignation has been accepted by the governor, according to a news bulletin issued by the governor's office yesterday. It is the purpose of Mr. Hutcheson to move to Jonesboro.

The bulletin also quotes a telegram which Governor Harris has sent to The Richmond Virginian, congratulating the state of Virginia upon the inauguration of prohibition in that state.

The vacancy in the office of captain of the guard at the capitol was filled by the appointment of J. L. C. Kerr, of Decatur.

Judge John T. Pendleton, presiding judge of the superior court bench, yesterday named the following committee to draft resolutions upon the death of Mr. Stewart, which will be spread upon an entire page of the superior court minutes devoted to the memory of the beloved official:

Thomas H. Jeffries, ordinary, chairman; N. L. Culberson, county treasurer; Arnold Broyles, clerk superior court; Drew Liddell, deputy sheriff; W. H. Abbott, deputy clerk superior court; M. M. Anderson, chief clerk municipal court. These men represent every branch of the Fulton court system.

W. G. Peebles, district manager of the Western Union Telegraph company, was the recipient of many congratulations Tuesday because of his heroic action in the early morning when he discovered that one of the inside rails at Mount View station on the Central road, which is just in front of his home, was broken, and stopped the "Dixie" by waving a red cloth. The train stopped about twenty feet from the broken rail, and the passengers poured out, all thanking Mr. Peebles for his deed. The train ran slowly over the break, and a repair crew soon reached the spot and repaired the rail.

Due to the fact that when the faculty and students of the Boys' High school reached their posts of duty Tuesday morning they found that every room in the building was flooded with water, a holiday was granted to the students. It is believed that the janitor of the building forgot and left the water turned into the boiler of the heating system the night before, causing the pipes to be filled up. Then the water ran out through the exhausts of the radiators, causing the abundance of water. There was very little material damage.

The Khorassans announce that the stage is set for the big fall ceremonial tonight, commencing at 7:30 o'clock sharp.

The officers of the local temple are: Royal vizier, W. G. Moore; grand emir, Frank T. Ridge; sheik, B. L. Owens; secretary, R. M. Jones; treasurer, F. G. Webb; mehedi, Dr. R. M. Eubanks; satrap, H. D. Waugh; sahib, G. F. Cox; mokanna, D. T. Griffin; saruk, R. W. Andrews; master of ceremonies, Lee F. Terrell; assistant master of ceremonies, T. H. Brannen.

Mrs. Sarah Wallace filed suit for divorce in superior court yesterday morning, charging that her husband, Andrew Wallace, a storekeeper, would come home at night, feed his mules hearty suppers, then come into her room to feed her upon profanity and abuse.

She alleges neglect and cruel treatment. Her attorney is John Y. Smith, and Judge George L. Bell set November 11 for a hearing of alimony proceedings, which were also instituted.

Ten negroes were arraigned in recorder's court Tuesday, charged with gambling. All pleaded guilty and were fined $15.75 each. Two of the negroes that participated in the game, it is said, made their escape. The negroes drawing the fines are Alex Pettis, Percy Barner, John Robertson, Roscoe Makey, Milton Collier, John Hightower, R. U. Schell, Leroy Bass, George Maddox and Emory Jacobs.

E. D. Walker, who is charged with having shot and killed Luther Whitmire in a quarrel in a Decatur street store October 26, was indicted by the Fulton county grand jury Tuesday morning on a charge of murder.

E. C. Yellowley, United States internal revenue agent here, returned yesterday from Jackson, Miss., where he formerly was stationed, and where he had been during the last ten days on personal business.

STATE MASONS PLAN INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

R. J. Travis Is Slated to Become Grand Junior Warden.

Macon, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—At the session of the Grand Lodge of Georgia Masons tonight the report of the special committee named at the meeting last year to consider the future of the Masonic home, located in Macon, and which recommended that the home be converted into an industrial training institution, with an endowment fund of $300,000, was unanimously adopted. Under the recommendations the grand master will name a committee of twelve Master Masons, one from each congressional district, to raise the endowment fund.

It developed tonight that R. J. Travis, of Savannah, will be put in line tomorrow for the highest office in the gift of Georgia Masonry when he will be elected grand junior warden. This is the stepping stone to grand master under the system of advancing the officers each year.

This afternoon Grand Master Ballard officiated at the laying of the cornerstone of the new hospital, more than 1,000 Masons marching to the hospital in a body.

Tomorrow the annual election of officers will be held by the grand lodge, and it is generally understood that F. O. Miller, of Fort Valley, the present deputy grand master, will be elected grand master and other officers advanced. Frank Baker, of Dalton, will be elected grand secretary, he having been serving in that capacity since the death of W. A. Wolihin, several months ago.

Five Little Letters In Star's Cognomen Trouble Theater Fans

Five little letters in the name of C-A-R-U-S are being pronounced in more different ways in Atlanta this week than the last Russian city in which the men of the kaiser and czar clashed.

The celebrated star who possesses the name of Carus and the front cognomen of Emma—everybody knows her—says that her name apparently is as hard to get right as "zygodactylous," whatever that is. Certain it is that more people try to pronounce her name, for "zygodactylus" isn't half so popular as "Carus."

At the stage entrance of the Forsyth, where Miss Carus tops the Keith vaudeville bill this week, she overheard a porter exclaim last night that "there goes that Miss Caruso. You orter hear her sing that Maggie Dooley, Hoolie Hoolie song."

"Somebody else called me Miss 'Cayres,'" she said, "and another Miss 'Caress,' and others such names as 'Caroos' and 'Careless.' There's some consolation, however, in the fact that nobody mispronounces 'Emma.'

"The thing used to worry me," she went on, "people not being able to pronounce such a simple thing as C-A-R-U-S. Now when I start my act I have Larry Comer pronounce my name. That's why I put him in it—so he can pronounce me up and down the stage until everybody in the house knows that C-a-r-u-s doesn't spell 'Caroos.'"

Miss Carus, who, by the way, is slender and sylph-like, is offering an act that is nothing short of a riot. Her act is one of seven big time features that make up a pace setting Keith vaudeville at the Forsyth.

Miss Carus has been star and co-star of many musical successes. Her most recent ones were "The Broadway Honeymoon" and "Up and Down Broadway."

Missing Boy Glimpsed For Elusive Moment Then Is Gone Again

Jack Thrash, missing 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thrash, 292 Cooper street, thought to have left Atlanta in a box car in company with other boys of his own age, was seen for a few minutes in the city Tuesday. He again proved elusive and before his parents could be communicated with he had again disappeared.

The boy was seen in the outskirts of the city and recognized from the description published in The Constitution. Efforts to reach his parents for some reason failed. Mr. and Mrs. Thrash request that if he is again seen they be communicated with at M. 2428. Jack was dressed in a red sweater, gray pants and a checked cap.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON GOES BACK TO 19 CENTS

Atlanta spot cotton again attained the 19-cent level in the exchange here yesterday, scoring an advance of 40 points. The figures of the Atlanta Commercial Exchange showed 19 cents, but the figures of A. P. Coles, of the Atlanta Warehouse company reached 19.25. Some selling occurred in both places, the exchange reporting sales of 500 bales and the warehouse company, 600 bales at 19¼ cents.

The rise in the local market follows a drop which culminated Monday, netting 120 points. At its highest the spot market here reached 19.80. Some predictions are made that the rise will continue until the former high record is reached.

Future markets in both New Orleans and New York showed good gains Tuesday.

RETURNS TO FRANCE WITH COMFORT BAGS FOR FRENCH POILUS

Miss Norman Derr, sister of Dr. John S. Derr, of East Lake, who has been in Atlanta for a short rest following a long term of service in the French army hospitals, leaves Atlanta today on the noon train for Washington on her way back to France, and she will carry with her over 250 "comfort bags" made by Atlanta women for the soldiers of France.

"I wish to express my gratitude to the Atlanta women for what they have done for the soldiers in making the 'comfort bags,'" said Miss Derr. "They have been wonderfuly kind to respond so readily to the appeal."

The bags are intended as Christmas presents for the soldiers and are to be delivered on Christmas morning.

Mrs. Alex W. Smith, of 954 Peachtree street, received a telegram recently requesting that she assist in obtaining 50,000 of the bags for Christmas presents for the wounded soldiers in the hospitals of France, and she, along with other Atlanta women, has responded to the appeal, as Miss Derr expressed it, "wonderfully."

"Of course, I dislike to leave friends here," said Miss Derr, "but I am very glad to go back. There is such a great opportunity and it is a tremendous joy to think of trying to help the soldiers."

Marcus Loew Finds South Is Ready for Popular Vaudeville

Marcus Loew, aptly termed the Henry Ford of the American stage, due to the fact that he has brought vaudeville to the door of every family which possesses so much as a purse string, and whose footlight economic methods virtually revolutionized vaudeville, will probably leave the city today on a tour of a number of southern cities.

He is visiting such towns as Memphis, Birmingham, Chattanooga, Augusta, Savannah and other places with the view of inaugurating Loew's vaudeville and photoplay attractions in these cities. Having beheld the success of his attractions at the Grand theater, Atlanta, where hundreds were turned away Monday night and last night, has concluded that the south is a ripe field for the advent of popular-priced vaudeville.

Returning to New York Mr. Loew proposes to send to Atlanta at given dates a number of the screen's foremost celebrities, such as Alice Brady, Robert Warwick, Maurice Costello, Gail Kane, and others, to appear in connection with the elaborate photoplay offerings being shown at the Grand, which will be the first theater in the city to follow a continuous policy of personal appearance of the movie stars.

Elks' Start Campaign To Furnish Xmas Gifts For Poor of Atlanta

Just before Christmas many poor in Atlanta will be made happy as the result of the efforts of Atlanta Lodge No. 78, B. P. O. E. The activities of that organization each year result in donations to the poor on that occasion and the movement for Christmas, 1916, was started in Atlanta Tuesday.

The initial move will be made Sunday in Atlanta when a benefit show will be staged in motion picures at the Piedmont theater. No charge for admission will be made, but the donations received at the door will all go toward this worthy cause. Every other Sunday from now until Christmas similar shows will be given at various picture theaters.

Added to this will be the usual donations on the part of individual Elks. Before donating the food and clothing which will be purchased with the fund raised, an Elks' committee will visit the homes of those to whom the gifts go and investigate conditions. This is done to elliminate any possible "faking."

Probably the most remunerative and the most enjoyable of the methods planned by the Elks for raising the fund will be a masked ball at the Auditorium-Armory. The exact date has not yet been fixed, but will be announced in ample time.

One Funeral Service For Mother and Son Ends Sad Tragedy

When the bodies of Fielding Smith, prominent clubman, and his mother, Mrs. W. T. Smith, of 37 Cleburne avenue, Inman Park, were laid to rest in graves in West View cemetery yesterday morning, the curtain descended upon one of Atlanta's saddest tragedies.

Mr. Smith was killed in an auto accident on Marietta road early Sunday morning. His mother died Monday morning from grief over her son's death.

W. T. Smith, a prominent cotton man, was in Texas at the time of the accident and knew nothing of his wife's death until apprised of it by friends as he drew near Atlanta on the West Point railroad.

The double funeral of mother and son was held at the Smiths' Cleburne avenue home at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. Dr. C. B. Wilmer officiated.

The following were pallbearers: Lamar Collier, Nick Ayer, James Whiteford Russell, Jr., Peter A. Erwin, William Alexander, L. A. Dean, Nelson George, Whiteford Mays, Doughty Manley, J. T. Dargan, V. C. Vaughan, Lute Hunnicutt.

Favorable reports came from the others injured in the Marietta road auto accident. Miss Nell Waldo, at her home at 176 Cleburne avenue, was resting well; Miss May Belle Clark, of Covington, Ga., at the Davis-Fischer sanitarium, was reported on the way to recovery, and Ernest Schoen and St. John Brooks, the other two occupants of the car, are both doing well.

HUGH DORSEY SEVERS LEGAL CONNECTION

Withdraws From the Firm of Dorsey, Brewster, Howell & Heyman.

The law firm of Dorsey, Brewster, Howell & Heyman, which was originally founded by Judge Rufus T. Dorsey and Albert Howell, Jr., twenty-six years ago, announces a change in the firm designation to take effect today.

Hon. Hugh M. Dorsey, eldest son of one of the founders of the firm, and who has been associated with it since he was admitted to the bar, twenty years ago, severed his connection with the firm on August 1, when he entered upon his successful campaign for governor of Georgia, but the designation of the firm was retained until today, when the firm changed its title to Brewster, Howell & Heyman.

Hon. Hugh Dorsey, the retiring partner, has established offices in the Empire building, where he will continue the practice of his profession until his inauguration as governor of Georgia in June, 1917.

Messrs. Brewster, Howell & Heyman will continue to maintain the offices of the original firm in the Connally building.

Bolding Now Associated With the Law Firm of Brewster, Howell & Heyman

Announcement was made on yesterday that Hon. Mark Bolding, who has been assistant attorney general of Georgia for the past two years, has resigned his official connection with the state government to become associated with the firm of Brewster, Howell & Heyman, with offices in the Connally building.

Mr. Bolding has discharged the duties of the position of assistant attorney general with signal success, having assisted the able attorney general of the state in many litigations of unusual importance.

HON. MARK BOLDING.

He was born in Gordon county, Georgia, on October 12, 1877, and graduated with distinguished honors at Mercer university in 1900, obtaining his diploma from the law school of the same institution on the following year.

Mr. Bolding taught school in south Georgia for four years after his graduation, and then entered the practice of the law in Moultrie, Ga., in partnership with the late Judge J. D. McKenzie.

He removed to Atlanta in 1906 and practiced law in partnership with Hon. William Schley Howard until the latter was elected to congress from this district. Shortly before his removal to Atlanta he married the daughter of Dr. A. E. Keese, of Atlanta.

In addition to Hon. Mark Bolding and the members of the firm, Colonel P. H. Brewster, Albert Howell, Jr., and Arthur Heyman, there will be associated in its practice Leon C. Greer and Hugh Howell, who have been connected with the firm for a number of years.

The position as assistant attorney general, vacated by the resignation of Hon. Mark Bolding, will be filled by the appointment of Hon. M. C. Bennett, of Camilla, Ga., the position having been tendered to him by Hon. Clifford Walker, attorney general, and having been accepted.

Mr. Bennett comes of a family of distinguished lawyers, being a brother of Judge Joe Bennett, of Brunswick; Judge Sam Bennett, of Albany, and Colonel Stanley Bennett, of Quitman. He is at present private secretary to Senator Smith, and is an able and experienced lawyer, who will make a strong addition to the legal department of the state.

R. H. Hemphill Resigns Reserve Bank Position To Go With Trust Company

R. H. Hemphill has resigned as manager of the credit bureau of the Federal Reserve bank of Atlanta to accept a position with Atlanta Trust company. Mr. Hemphill will be connected with the trust department, and for the present actively engaged in the reorganization of some of the industrial corporations in which the trust company is interested. He has been with the Federal Reserve bank since its organization, is familiar with business conditions throughout the southeastern section, and has had wide experience in industrial organization and banking.

Since the election of the present officers the Trust company has successfully carried out a number of reorganizations and is rapidly extending the scope of its operations.

On September 1 the trust company organized a farm loan department, under the management of H. O. Reeves, former manager of the farm loan department of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance company, of Newark, N. J., for the purpose of making farm mortgage loans and cattle loans.

Mr. Hemphill's successor in the Federad Reserve bank has not yet been selected.

Fund for Wilson.

Lawrenceville, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—E. L. Martin, of Atlanta, was in Lawrenceville Thursday and raised a contribution to the Woodrow Wilson fund. About $40 had previously been sent in by local men working in the interest of the fund.

Racked by Rheumatism, Barnesville Man Twice Shoots Self in Head

Barnesville, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—George W. Adams, a highly-respected citizen who had been a great sufferer from rheumatism for a number of years, committed suicide last night by shooting himself twice in the head with a pistol. He had evidently thoroughly made up his mind to end his life, for the first shot, aimed at his forehead, sent the ball between the skin and skull around to the back of the head, crushing the skull to pieces, resulting probably in instant death. The act was due to ill health and his desire to die, which he had expressed to his family. Rheumatism had fearfully drawn his limbs and for years he had lived in a roller chair.

The funeral was held here this afternoon, conducted by Dr. A. J. Moncrief. He is survived by his wife, several children and a number of brothers and sisters, all prominent people through this section.

MRS. W. H. FELTON WILL SPEAK TO THE ECONOMIC SOCIETY

"Protection and Free Trade" is a rare theme for an address by a woman, but it is safe to predict that when Mrs. W. H. Felton handles it this afternoon before the Georgia branch, Home Economic and Political association, it will be a strong address without the limiting phrase "for a woman to make."

The meeting will take place at 3:30 o'clock at the Ansley hotel, and will be one of a series of sixteen lectures to be presented under the auspices of the association, of which the Georgia branch was recently organized. Admission to the course of lectures is one dollar.

Lucien Harris Announces For Tax Collector's Office

TO THE VOTERS OF FULTON COUNTY:

I am a candidate for the office of Tax Collector of Fulton County for the term beginning January 1, 1917.

The administration, of which I was chief deputy, was indorsed by the voters of Fulton County at the recent primary. My election will be a confirmation of this indorsement and will carry out the wish of my lifelong friend, the late Andrew P. Stewart.

Intimately associated with Mr. Stewart in the conduct of this office, I have gained through experience a thorough knowledge of the duties and am qualified to continue Mr. Stewart's work.

The present efficient office staff—all indorsed at the recent county primary—will remain with me in the event of my election. The organization is as follows:

Fred Wedemeyer, Amos Baker, Geo. B. Saunders, Allen Jones, Charlie Poole, Earl Suttles.

If elected I shall continue Mr. Stewart's policy of courtesy and fair treatment. The convenience and interest of the public will be served to every degree consistent with good business management.

Those who know me are aware of my ability as evidenced by the confidence displayed by the county commissioners in electing me to the short term.

For the benefit of those who are not familiar with my record, it may be well to state that I have lived in Atlanta all my life, serving with loyalty the best interests of my city and state.

Very respectfully,

LUCIEN HARRIS.

Tech Coaches Not Letting Up on Jackets One Iota

Contrary to all expectations, the Tech coaches did not give the Yellow Jackets any rest Monday or Tuesday, as had been forecast in these columns, and they give no indication of giving them any rest for the remainder of the season.

It seems to be the intention of the coaches to not only keep the Jackets at the fine point that they maintained in the game with Washington and Lee Saturday, but to whet that edge and make it keen in all the remaining games of the season.

True, Saturday the team has a comparatively easy game after the Davidson, North Carolina and Washington and Lee games, but this is likely to prove detrimental rather than being a help, as the team will no doubt be inclined to loaf a little.

By using straight football altogether it is believed that the Jackets will have little or no trouble in conquering Tulane, though the latter's strength is something that has to be guessed at from their performances to date.

Tulane is not going to be any Mercer or Cumberland. Neither is she going to be any Davidson or Carolina, but from what we learn they are going to be about between the two, though nearer the latter class than the former.

This sort of a game, therefore, will give the Jackets a good workout, preparing them for the final three games of the season, which will decide her final ranking for the year, Alabama, Georgia and Auburn in that order.

The Jackets will enter Saturday's game in their best condition of the year and the machine should look like a machine offensively for the first time. Defensively it looks good even now, but it will hardly reach its height offensively until the Alabama game, and that height will be maintained, if possible, the remainder of the schedule.

Tommy Spence will be back in the game Saturday, and with the aid of Glover and Guill, the Jackets' line attack should, throughout the four quarters, be as formidable as any plunging attack of any eleven in the south, while Strupper, Hill, Johnston and Morrison will furnish an end running game that should electrify.

JOE GUYON IS RULED INELIGIBLE

Guyon Ineligible Until Next Year, Faculty So Rules

Constitution's Prediction of Week Ago as to Action of S. I. A. A. and Tech Authorities Officially Verified Tuesday.

The Constitution's prediction that the S. I. A. A. would declare Carlisle a college and not a prep school and that the Tech athletic authorities would then rule Joe Guyon ineligible for its football eleven until next season has been officially substantiated.

The Constitution's prediction that if ruled upon adversely Guyon would remain at Tech and come out for the eleven next season was also substantiated.

These predictions were made in last Wednesday's Constitution, under a two-column head reading "Guyon Will Not Be a Jacket Until the 1917 Campaign—Carlisle Not a Prep School."

Our prediction was that the western conference in 1905 ruled Carlisle to be a college and that the S. I. A. A. was expected to follow this precedent with a like ruling and that when they did that the local school board would bar Guyon for the year.

The trend of the investigation took just the course that we predicted it would and official announcement of the action of both the S. I. A. A. and the Tech authorities was made Tuesday.

Guyon will play with the Tech freshmen this season and next year will be on hand as a member of the varsity plugging one of the backfield holes that will be caused when Froggie Morrison and Talley Johnston leave school. With him in harness running with Strupper and Albert Hill taking the other vacant place, the Strupper-Guyon-Hill-Spence combination should be even as formidable if not more so than this year's quartet.

EMORY FRESHMEN WIN FIRST GAME OF 1916 SEASON

Emory University, Oxford, Ga., October 31.—(Special.)—Much to the surprise of the entire student body of Emory university, the freshman football team won its first game of the season Monday afternoon from the fast junior team. The score was: Freshmen 14, juniors 0. The freshmen got their first tally during the first four minutes of play, when, after receiving the kick-off, they advanced the ball from the center of the field to the junior 5-yard line on a fluke forward pass, Pilcher to Richter. On the next play Richter carried the ball over on an off tackle play. The other score was in the third quarter, when Richter picked up a fumble and ran 40 yards for a touchdown. The stars of the game were Richter and Pilcher for the freshmen, while the defensive work of Smith and Darling was good for the juniors.

The line-up was as follows:

JUNIORS.	Pos.	FRESHMEN.
Clemens	C	Dickey
Huckibee, Kerr,
Husbands	L. G.	Leon Smith
Malone	R. G.	Pope
Tarpley	L. T.	Stancill
Darling	R. T.	Mayo
Bivings	L. E.	Perk
Critendon	R. E.	Powell
Hamilton	Q. B.	O'Quinn
Lester	L. H.	Pilcher (capt.)
Ingram	R. H.	Richter
W. E. Smith (capt)	F.	Byrd

Summary—Touchdowns, freshmen Richter (2); goals from touchdown, Pilcher (2); referee, Professor J. B. Peebles, Professor J. P. Hanner; umpire, Haygood Evans; timekeeper, Pierce Cline; head linesman, Fritz Lane. Time, 10, 12, 12 10. Game called at 2:30.

The Georgia Cracker.

With Apologies to Rudyard Kipling. (From University of Virginia College Topics.)

He didn't 'ave no rooters of 'is own;
He didn't 'ave no fellows for to cheer;
So we must testify the pluck he's shown
In a-coming up to play us, year by year.

'E's a darling; 'e's a ducky; 'e's a sport—
'E's a player that we 'ope to meet again;
'E's a foeman worthy of a good report,
Though the licking that 'e gave us caused us pain.

Ere's to you, Georgia Cracker, and your 'ome in the canebrake;
You're a poor, benighted Cracker, but your playing made us ache.
'Ere's to you, Georgia Cracker, and your playing clean and fine;
You're poor, beknighted Cracker, but you broke Virginia's line!

"UNCLE NICK" DEAD.

Former National League Head Was 76 Years Old.

Washington, October 31.—Nicholas E. Young, "Uncle Nick," an old time baseball player and formerly president of the National league, died at his home early today. He had been employed in the treasury department for some time.

Mr. Young was born in Amsterdam, N. Y., and was 76 years old. He played professional baseball with the old Nationals of Washington in the sixties, later with the Chicago club of the Union league and was at one time manager of the Lord Baltimore Club of Baltimore. He became president and secretary of the National league in 1881 and held that position until 1903, when he retired and was succeeded by Harry Pulliam.

Mr. Young had been an invalid for four years, but until that time attended most of the games played here.

L. S. U. COACH FORCED TO TENDER RESIGNATION

Baton Rouge, La., October 31.—E. T. McDonnell today announced his resignation as coach of the Louisiana State university football team. McDonnell said his resignation was requested by Professor T. W. Atkinson, head of the university athletic council. Professor Atkinson declined to comment on the matter. Neither McDonnell nor Professor Atkinson would say whether what was regarded as the poor showing made by the L. S. U. eleven against the Sewanee team in the game played in New Orleans last Saturday, and which Sewanee won, 7 to 0, was responsible for the resignation.

Arthur Klock, star linesman of the team, announced his retirement for the season when he learned of the coach's resignation.

The coach's resignation will not interfere with the scheduled game with Arkansas at Shreveport next Saturday, it was announced.

Announcement is made in another column of today's paper that Henry P. Scales, a well-known Atlantan, has leased the Imperial hotel, at the junction of Ivy and Peachtree streets, taking charge of it today.

Associated with Mr. Scales, as manager, will be J. A. Lambeth, an experienced hotel man. The new lessee announces that the hotel will be run as a family hotel, with a few rooms reserved for transients. The accessibility of the Imperial, with its home-like atmosphere, and under the new management of courteous and experienced men, is bound to prove a popular place. Mr. Scales has lived in the city for many years, where he is most favorably known, both in social and financial circles.

EXPLOSIONS DAMAGE CARS AGAIN LAST NIGHT

Dynamite placed on the tracks broke out the windows and damaged the wheels of several cars last night. Car No. 180, on the College Park line, ran over an explosive at Newnan avenue, and again a short distance farther down the track at Gammage stop. No damage was done except to the flanges on the car wheels and to the windows. Dynamite exploded under a car on the river line about 9 o'clock, tearing out two feet of track and necessitating the routing of cars over Kennedy street until the breach is repaired today. The Georgia avenue line was greased at Grant street, causing some difficulty in climbing the hill at that point.

Various Forms Of Headache

"It is necessary in order to treat headaches properly to understand the causes which produce the affection" says Dr. J. W. Ray, of Blockton, Ala. Continuing, he says, "Physicians cannot even begin the treatment of a disease without knowing what causes give rise to it, and we must remember that headache is to be treated according to the same rule. We must not only be particular to give a remedy intended to counteract the cause which produces the headache, but we must also give a remedy to relieve the pain until the cause of the trouble has been removed. To answer this purpose, anti-kamnia tablets will be found a most convenient and satisfactory remedy. One tablet every one to three hours gives comfort and rest in the most severe cases of headache, neuralgia and particularly the headaches of women."

When we have a patient subject to regular attacks of sick headache, we should caution him to keep his bowels regular, for which nothing is better than "Actoids," and when he feels the least sign of an oncoming attack, he should take two A-K Tablets. Such patients should always be instructed to carry a few anti-kamnia tablets, so as to have them ready for instant use. These tablets are prompt in action and can be depended on to produce relief in a very few minutes. Ask for A-K Tablets.

BRITISH CASUALTIES 107,033 FOR OCTOBER

Total Losses for Months of the Somme Offensive Reach 414,202.

London, October 31.—British casualties reported in October in all war areas are: Officers, 4,331; men, 102,702.

October losses of 107,033 bring up the total British casualties for the four months of the Somme offensive to 414,202. The daily average loss for October is 3,452.

The British figures are of especial interest on account of their bearing on the controversy between London and Berlin regarding the losses of the allies on the Somme. Several of the statements in October from the German war office dwelt on the sacrifices of the British and French to obtain a comparatively small amount of territory. It was said they had made desperate efforts to break through the German lines, hurling forward great bodies of troops and sustaining enormous losses. On one occasion the British war office denied such a statement from Berlin.

Unofficial advices from British sources stated the losses of the allies relative to those of the Germans and to the operations undertaken, were decreasing to a marked extent on account of increased efficiency of the artillery and aerial services. So far as is shown by the London figures, which, of course, take no account of the French casualties, the losses of the British have been decreasing since August. The total reported for September was 119,549, or a daily average of more than 3,800. In August the total was 127,945, a daily average of 4,127. In July, however, the casualties reported were only 59,675.

MEAT CAUSE OF LAME BACK AND KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts to flush Kidneys if your back is aching.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

CHIEF MAYO MAY RUN FOR TAX COLLECTOR

W. Tom Winn, Shelby Smith and H. H. Cabaniss New Entries.

Among those who are contemplating making the race for Fulton county tax collector is Chief W. M. Mayo, of the police department, whose friends are advising him to enter the race without delay.

Mayor Woodward was freely spoken of as another candidate Tuesday, and although neither the chief nor the mayor would express themselves definitely, it is believed that their announcements will be a matter of time alone.

Lucien Harris, son of Joel Chandler Harris, and for twenty-one years assistant to the late Andy Stewart, assumed the office yesterday by appointment of the county commission for the term which expires January 1.

City Marshal James M. Fuller, Mr. Harris, W. Tom Winn, county commissioner; Shelby Smith and H. H. Cabaniss have thus far announced their candidacy. S. B. Turman, former commissioner, has been mentioned. Carlos Mason has definitely stated that he would not enter the race.

New York, October 31.—The cotton market developed renewed strength today and recovered more than $4 per bale of its recent losses, with May contracts selling up to 19.41 and closing at 19.35. The general list closed firm at a net advance of 55 to 59 points.

There was further scattering liquidation during the early trading. The opening was 3 points higher on December, but generally unchanged to 12 points lower, and active months sold off a point or two during the first few minutes. The offerings, however, were by no means as heavy as recently and were evidently well taken. Bullish southern spot advices seemed to give buyers more confidence, and reports of continued firmness in the goods market also contributed to the advance, which became active and excited during the afternoon, owing to continued support from prominent bull brokers, covering by Wall street shorts and rebuying by sold-out longs. January contracts sold up to 19.15, March to 19.28 and July to 19.42, or 63 to 66 points above last night's closing figures and 80 points or more above the low level of yesterday.

There was a good deal of realizing around this level and closing prices were a few points off from the best. Numerous reports were received here from the south during the day, indicating that interior spot holders were not following the decline in futures, and such advices seemed to be colored by the absence of hedge selling. This was the feature most emphasized on the advance, but a good part of the buying was probably promoted by a feeling that recent declines had been sufficient to strengthen the technical position. Rumors that a bullish crop estimate was to be published by a western authority tomorrow morning may possibly have had some influence, and there was also talk that ginning for the period ending at the close of business tonight would show a sharp falling off. Trading was comparatively quiet during the earlier stages of the advance, but became quite active above 19 cents for January.

Bull Campaign Resumed.

New Orleans, October 31.—Heavy buying, a wild spurt in prices and scenes of the greatest activity accompanied the resumption of the bull campaign in cotton on this market today. After a small break in the early session the market gradually gained strength during the morning and in the early afternoon bulged strongly, sending the trading months 67 to 68 points above yesterday's close. The rise was well maintained to the close, which was very steady at a net gain of 57 to 61 points.

Aggressive buying by leaders on the long side, a vast amount of bullish gossip, steadiness in the spot markets and the refusal of cotton goods markets to follow the recent reaction in the price of raw material were given as chief reasons for today's price performances. At the highest July traded up to 19.21, which was within 68 points of the highest of the season.

Around the opening prices were 3 to 6 points off, cables being poor and moderate liquidation making its appearance. This was the low of the day. For a while buying appeared to be restricted by the fact that tomorrow will be a holiday here, but bullish comment finally had its effect and late in the session brokers found great difficulty in filling the buying orders which poured in on them from all directions.

Spot cotton steady and unchanged. Sales on the spot 575; to arrive 1,275. Good ordinary 16.63; strict good ordinary 17.13; low middling 17.63; strict low middling 17.88; middling 18.13; strict middling 18.32; good middling 18.50; strict good middling 18.75. Receipts 34,755; stock 342,085.

EXTRA STEEL DIVIDEND.

The Total Earnings Break All Records.

New York, October 31.—Total earnings of the United States Steel corporation for the third quarter of the calendar year, issued today, established a new high record at $85,817,067, exceeding the previous best statement, that of the preceding quarter, by $4,691,019.

Net income of $75,202,408 surpassed the previous record by $3,822,186, and the balance of surplus for the quarter, amounting to $51,859,450, represents an increase of $3,894,915.

The extra dividend of 1 per cent on the common stock, inaugurated at the last quarter, was again declared, with the usual regular dividends of 1¾ and 1¼ per cent on the preferred and common, respectively.

While considerably below the more extravagant estimates made recently, the quarter's earnings show a steady monthly gain. July earnings, after payment of the usual interest charges, were $25,650,006; those of August $29,746,903, and for September the aggregate was $30,420,158.

For the first nine months' earnings available for the common dividend equal almost 32 per cent, as compared with 4.13 per cent in the corresponding period of 1915. At the end of the third quarter of 1914, after payment of only one-half of 1 per cent on the common stock, the corporation reported a surplus of less than $90,000, this being followed at the end of the year by a suspension of the common dividend and a deficit of $5,606,283 after payment of the preferred dividend.

In trade circles it is predicted that earnings for the current or final quarter will again exceed all records, possibly aggregating $100,000,000. In common with other similar industrial companies, the steel corporation is now receiving unprecedented prices for its fabricated products.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

The cotton market on Tuesday had almost as sensational advance from the opening to the close as was the decline on last Wednesday, the 25th of October, and now the market has had a very sharp rally from the low prices reached on Monday. Castles, Mitchell, Hayne and Carter bought contracts heavily from the start; at first their buying did not make much impression, but later on offerings were all absorbed and prices advanced very rapidly. The strength of the cotton market attracted attention from stock exchange firms and drove Wall street shorts to cover. Mr. Castles bid for large blocks; at one time he bid 19 cents for 60,000 May. Henry Hentz & Co. were large sellers on and immediately after the opening. In the late trading there was renewed buying on a report that a Chicago firm would be out with a very bullish crop estimate Wednesday morning. One of the large cotton firms who were the original bulls and who led the advance all the way from 13 cents up, were advising their clients to sell the market on the bulges today.

The presidential election faces us within the next few days and during these next few days there is a possibility that sensations may be sprung which may dislocate the seemingly renewed bull movement in cotton. We advise our clients to be very cautious in buying cotton on such advances as took place on Tuesday.

DOREMUS & CO.

New York, October 31.—(Special.)—Yesterday's liquidation seems to be all the immediately distressed and poorly margined cotton for sale and with bulls urging today's market showed a quick recovery. Prices moved slowly upward throughout the day without new development of any kind and spot markets continued indifferent to our fluctuations, although in the last hour of the day there was some hedge selling against spot purchases. The bulls seem to be trying to develop a strong market on which to liquidate, but the market neither takes nor gives up cotton with any freedom and it does not look like any free selling could be absorbed. On the other hand, it does look like any market buying power which appeared would be easy to execute because the public are now willing to sell out their long cotton, both spots and futures, on the hard spots. We think the market an excellent sale on all of these rallies and think the 20-cent level, if met again, will bring a deluge of liquidations. On the other hand bulls are talking a crop of less than 11,000,000 bales and claim that the spot holders have 20 cents so firmly imbedded in their mind that the future movement of spot cotton will be seriously curtailed unless that price is paid initially.

RENSKORF, LYON & CO.

New York, October 31.—(Special.)—After three days of liquidation and over-confident selling the cotton market today recovered in response to the underlying economic conditions, which justify the expectation of a higher price.

J. W. JAY & CO.

New York, October 31.—(Special.)—The selling pressure relaxed in this market today and consequently prices advanced 60 points under general buying. Southern advices were unanimous in saying that cotton is firmly held and so local spot interests bought. The demand soon spread to other quarters. While wide fluctuations must be expected from time to time, we advise the purchase of cotton in all weak markets, believing that the urgent necessities of the trade will always bring about sharp recoveries and keep prices pointed upward.

BOND, M'ENANY & CO.

New York, October 31.—(Special.)—The cotton market today from a tame opening developed into a spectacular affair before its close. Big bulls, dormant for the last few days, bid early in the day for cotton in large blocks at various times, which encouraged commission house buying, which later on drove in innumerable local shorts.

The western element also bought liberally on report that a prominent Chicago house would issue a report indicating a crop of around 10,000,000.

The bearish sentiment so evident yesterday has given way to the feeling that the recent decline had eliminated all the weak longs and cleared the decks for a resumption of the upward movement. At all events, the closing prices were not far from the top of the day and higher prices are possible early tomorrow, independent of the action of Liverpool, which is due to come 21 to 23 points higher.

We are likely to have markets of big swings up and down. Purchases on fair reactions would seem to be the proper policy temporarily.

Cotton oil worked within narrow limits. Active trading markets are likely. A purchase on moderate declines with realizing sales on quick advances.

CHAS. FAIRCHILD & CO.

New York, October 31.—(Special.)—It is quite evident that a large part of the trading public regard the recent decline of about 150 points as being a culmination of the downward course, for it has been well demonstrated today that the operators are making willing and eager to cast their lot on the constructive side. The technical position of cotton as a whole has been strengthened through the liquidation of speculative long accounts and weak spot holders. While some drastic swings can be expected, we advise our friends to buy cotton around present levels. Liverpool is due 22½ points advance.

JOHNSTON, STORM & CO.

New York, October 31.—(Special.)—At the opening of the market the large traders who have been identified with the long side of the market began buying heavily and continued to do so during the session. Under this demand prices advanced some 60 points, closing very steady at within a few points of the best prices. During the last hour profit-taking through other brokers appeared, which was quickly absorbed. No new features appeared in the situation; a reaction after sharp decline of last week was to be expected in natural course of markets, but the extent of the advance was greater than anticipated. Spinners were not buyers during the day.

NEW RECORDS MADE BY PAPER ISSUES

Greater Part of Stock List, However, Moved Within Narrow and Irregular Groove.

New York, October 31.—For the greater part of the session today's market moved within a narrow and irregular groove, except for further activity and higher prices in the paper and fertilizer issues and other specialties hitherto of doubtful status as market leaders.

New records were registered by International Paper preferred and American Writing Paper preferred at 107¼ and 51¼, respectively, while advances in International Agricultural Chemical common and preferred, American Agricultural Chemical, American Linseed common and preferred and corn products ranged from two to almost five points.

Munitions and equipments, notably Crucible Steel, Republic Iron, American and Baldwin Locomotives and semi-war descriptions such as Industrial Alcohol, Central Leather and American Zinc helped to lift averages of the forenoon with American Smelting, Pittsburg Coal and Virginia Coal and Iron.

United States Steel was firm at the outset, making more or less steady advance with the progress of the trading and scoring an extreme gain of 1½ points to 119¼, closing ⅝ under its best. Steel's course was watched with unusual interest for some intimation of the action of the directors on the dividend.

Motors and subsidiaries were under pressure of the same character as that recently noted in shipping shares, together with other more isolated issues, suggestive of specialism activity. Canadian Pacific and Rock Island were most reactionary of the rails, this condition being only slightly overcome in the final hour, when Reading's rise imparted more firmness to that division.

The steel quarterly statement, issued after the close, accompanied the announcement of another "extra" one per cent dividend, established a new record of earnings of $85,817,000, with a surplus of almost $52,000,000. Total sales of stocks aggregated 975,000 shares.

Bonds were more steady, the recent decline in foreign issues being checked on lighter offerings. Total sales, par value, aggregated $5,440,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

WHEAT IS STEADIED BY LARGE EXPORTS

Possible Complications Between United States and Germany Over Submarine Attack Weakened Market at Opening.

Chicago, October 31.—Liberal export business during the last 24 hours did a good deal today to offset uneasiness of wheat traders in regard to the possible difficulties between Germany and the United States. The market closed unsettled at $1.88⅞ to $1.89 for December and $1.85¾ to $1.86 for May, with the market as a whole ranging from 1¾c off to ¼c advance compared with yesterday's finish. Corn closed at ⅛c decline to ¼c gain, oats unchanged to ⅛@¼c lower, and provisions varying from 22½ setback to a rise of 20c.

Bears in wheat had the advantage at the outset, as doubt still prevailed whether renewed complications for the United States would develop as a result of the latest submarine attacks. Besides, reports of cloudy skies in Argentina were taken to imply chances that the end of the drought there was perhaps near at hand. An increase of the world's available supply total formed an additional bearish element, though generally regarded as of much lesser importance.

Bullish sentiment quickly revived, however, when announcement was received that yesterday's export business had been more than treble the amount currently estimated, and that Great Britain had been buying freely on the down tourns in prices.

Late reports that 1,000,000 bushels of wheat had been disposed of to Europe today gave a fresh touch of confidence that the final dealings, but came none too soon, as the market had for some time previously been inclined to waver owing to doubt that the foreign demand would continue. Including the 1,000,000 bushels sold today, the total export business of the last 24 hours was figured this evening at 2,750,000 bushels.

Corn rallied owing to the late strength in wheat. During most of the day though, the corn market was weak as a result of large consignments from the country and because heavy marketing of live stock was expected to reduce feeding.

Oats swayed chiefly with other cereals. Considerable selling was induced by the huge proportions of the yisible supply.

Although provisions showed weakness early, with hogs and grain, the finish was in general at a net advance. The basis of the upturn appeared to be the rally in corn and other cereals.

Sugar.

New York, October 31.—The local market for raw sugar was easier today, but prices were unchanged, although more or less nominal. There were sales of 40,000 bags of Cubas for first half November shipments at 5½, cost and freight, and about 1,500 tons of Brazil sugar at 5⅛, which is equivalent to about 5⅝c for Cuba, cost and freight. At the close holders seemed more disposed to make commitments, and in an effort to do further business were offering Cubas at 5 7-16c, cost and freight, equal to 6.46 for centrifugal, but found no buyers, as refiners were more disposed to hold off and await developments. Closing prices were 5½c for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 6.52 for centrifugal, and 5.65 for molasses, nominal.

No fresh developments occurred in refined sugar and business was again principally in the form of withdrawals on old contract. Prices were unchanged at 7.50 to 7.75 for granulated.

The easier feeling in raws and the increased offerings led to quite an active selling movement in futures, with closing prices showing declines of 17 to 22 points, or at practically the lowest of the day. Wall street and commission houses seemed to be the principal sellers, although there also appeared to be considerable pressure from Cuban interests, principally in the new crop positions. Sales for the day were 9,750 tons.

Futures ranged as follows:

ATLANTA'S STRIDES
From Day to Day

Quite a large gain was registered in the value of October building operations in Atlanta, although the gain is still insufficient to make up the deficit for the year, as compared with similar periods of last year.

Building permits for October, which closed yesterday, had an aggregate value of $311,099, against $252,251 for October, 1915. This is a gain of $58,848.

The Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose permit for their new Whitehall street store of $150,000 has not been issued, nor has the Moreland avenue church building permit of $12,500 been issued.

A total of $115,000 of building permits were issued Thursday. This included a $60,000 permit to the colored branch of the Y. M. C. A. to build a five-story reinforced concrete building on North Butler street, and $50,000 permit to the trustees of Emory university to build a clinic building for the hospital unit on Armstrong street, now the Atlanta Medical college.

A dwelling permit was also issued. M. L. Rauschenberg will build a one-story brick veneer bungalow at No. 91 Park drive, costing $4,000.

Architectural Notes.

Miss Leila Ross Wilburn, architect, has drawn plans for a two-family apartment house, of brick veneer construction, to be erected at Waverly way and Hurt street, Inman Park, by W. H. Harris. The building is to cost about $8,000.

She has also drawn plans for five brick veneer dwellings to be built by Mrs. Nora G. Webb, costing from $3,000 to $4,500 each.

Vernon is now in the Atlanta jail, whence he was taken after having been sentenced to life imprisonment in the local court in September for the murder of his 20 MILLION PEOPLE USE CASCARETS--WHY?

Only True Tonic for Liver and Bowels Costs 10 Cents a Box.

Cascarets are a treat! They liven your liver, clean your thirty feet of bowels and sweeten your stomach. You eat one or two Cascarets like candy before going to bed and in the morning your head is clear, tongue is clean, stomach sweet, breath right, and cold gone and you feel grand.

Get a 10 or 25-cent box at any drug store and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. Stop sick headaches, bilious spells, indigestion, furred tongue, offensive breath and constipation. Mothers should give cross, peevish, feverish, bilious children a whole Cascaret any time.

AMUSEMENTS

Maude Adams.

(At the Atlanta.)

This afternoon the only matinee performance by Maude Adams in "The Little Minister" will be given at the Atlanta, the last performance coming tonight. Despite the heavy sale, there are plenty of seats in the orchestra for the matinee, while seats in all parts of the house may be had for tonight. Miss Adams was never greeted with more enthusiasm than upon this visit.

"Hit-the-Trail Holliday."

(At the Atlanta.)

Patrons of the Atlanta theater are going to have the pleasure of witnessing a brand-new George M. Cohan play, the title of which is "Hit-the-Trail Holliday," which, with Frank Otto in the title role, will be presented at the Atlanta theater Monday, November 6, for three nights and Wednesday matinee.

"Hit-the-Trail Holliday" is a timely American comedy, the principal character of which will be found to bear a strong resemblance to a celebrated evangelist.

The central idea of the play was suggested to Mr. Cohan by George Middleton and Guy Bolton, but the play itself is entirely the work of America's foremost dramatist, who has already given the American stage such successful plays as "Get-Rick-Quick Wallingford," "Broadway Jones," "Seven Keys to Baldpate" and others too numerous to mention.

Cohan & Harris have assembled a fine company, including Frank Otto, Arthur V. Gibson, Harry Hubbard, Howard Hull Gibson, Franklin Hall, Dan Anderson, Chauncey Causeland, Louis Eagan, Sam Burton, Ben Sweeney, John Daley, E. N. Lewis, Bert Sammis, Lola Merrill, Mildred Beverly and Jo Robinson Haywood. Seats Thursday.

Loew's Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

Never in the history of Atlanta has a popular-priced attraction commanded such widespread popularity as Marcus Loew's vaudeville and feature pictures at the Grand theater, where Monday afternoon and night hundreds were turned away and where capacity audiences were entertained all Tuesday. The coming of Loew's offerings bids fair to establish brilliant theatrical history in the south. The headline attraction is Kinkaid's Kilties, a pretentious musical revue presented by eleven persons, mostly girls. Marie Russell, "the Belle of Kentucky," presents a lavish single number, and the Chinese Musical Trio is one of the classiest musical turns on the vaudeville stage. Herbert and Dennis and the celebrated aerial heroine, Ella Lavail, comprise the remainder of an all-star bill. The photo-play branch of the Loew program is one of the Grand's most distinctive features. Robert Warwick, in "The Heart of a Hero," performs a historical picturization of the life of Nathan Hale that will be of untold educational and entertaining advantages to both young children and their elders.

Emma Carus.

(At the Forsyth.)

With Emma Carus, the famous comedienne, as headliner and a galaxy of other big time Keith features, the Forsyth bill this week is a pace-setter from start to finish. Miss Carus, slender, pretty and vivacious, appears with Larry Comer in a collection of songs, dances and patter that sweeps the house from the start and when, attired in grass-skirted Hawaiian togs, Miss Carus tells how "Maggie Dooley Learned to Do the Hoolie Hoolie" there's a riot.

Another big feature of the week is the Ballet Classique, eight dainty Metropolitan opera dancers who assist pretty Dottie King in a series of beautiful offerings. The bill opens with a big animal act, Apadale's Zoological Circus, in which there are four bears, eight dogs, three monkeys and an ant eater. Other top-notchers include such acts as the celebrated Irish comedian, James B. Donovan, assisted by the pretty and graceful dancer and singer, Marie Lee; Harry Fern and company in a swift moving comedy playlet; the Mudge-Morton trio, who play the violin, accordion and piano, and others.

Three Higgie Girls.

(At the Piedmont.)

The Three Higgie Girls, who are at the Piedmont theater today, seem to be about the most popular act on the bill, judging from the amount of applause given them at each performance. They have proven themselves good musicians and one of the trio shines as a comedian. However, as far as talent is concerned, there are four offerings on the program that in their particular form of entertainment will give them a close race. The closing act, that of Burke brothers and Kendall, is about one of the best club swinging turns seen this season. Harry Milton and two fox terrier dogs, Mansfield and Riddle, and Grindell and Esther, with the accompaniment of Percy Lynn's twelve-piece orchestra, furnish the latest popular songs in a most pleasing manner.

Sessue Hayakawa.

(At Alamo No. 2.)

Evidently Manager George Schmidt's very attractive lobby display at the Alamo No. 2 is producing results, because the announcement was made this morning that owing to the enormous demand of the public to see Sessue Hayakawa in his latest photo-play, "The Soul of Kura San," the picture would be continued through Wednesday. This latest film of the eminent Japanese star is a veritable masterpiece of acting and photography. The scenes alternate between Japan and America. The plot deals with the love of two young people being thwarted by their families.

On Thursday and Friday the offering will be Jack Pickford and Louise Huff in "Seventeen."

Lillian Walker.

(At the Strand.)

"The Blue Envelope Mystery," a thrilling mystery drama which ran as a serial story by Sophie Kerr in The Woman's Home Companion and has now been put on the screen by the Greater Vitagraph company, comes to the Strand theater today and Thursday. Lillian Walker is the star in the part of a rich young girl who is suddenly tossed out into the maelstrom of the world and forced to earn her own living.

Edna Goodrich.

(At the Georgian.)

The vicious selfishness of the very fashionable is revealed in all its heartlessness in "The House of Lies," with Edna Goodrich as the star, which is coming to the Georgian theater today. As the name implies, it is the abode of artificiality, of pretense, of vain strivings, but in all these things it only portrays what is so often the true condition of the society devotee. Amid these surroundings develops a wonderful character, a beautiful woman whose experiences are so startling, so interesting, that her strange course of conduct is intensely baffling until the dramatic denouement. Miss Goodrich's acting of the step-daughter of a scheming society woman is very impressive.

On Thursday and Friday a return showing will be given to "Diana, the Huntress."

Lew Fields.

(At the Criterion.)

Today and Thursday the William A. Brady Film company will present at the Criterion theater Lew Fields and Doris Kenyon in "The Man Who Stood Still." It is a story dealing with the kind of people with whom you come in daily contact. The picture is full of laughs and funny antics of the old German character, "Kraus," which is played by Mr. Fields. He has a part in which his whole aim in life is to make his daughter happy. At the same time there is a touch of pathos running through the production that is most appealing.

Louise Glaum, often styled the "Vampire of all Vampires," is the star in "Somewhere in France," which is booked for Friday and Saturday.

Lionel Barrymore.

(At the Vaudette.)

Friends of the Georgia boys at the border will enjoy the feature film at the Vaudette today and Thursday, for it is the first picture to be produced in which the hero is a national guardsman and the plot based on the recent call to the colors. The picture is "The Brand of Cowardice," and it is a stirring Metro feature starring Lionel Barrymore in the role of a wealthy young clubman who enlists in the national guard, and along the Rio Grande meets many exciting adventures. Two hand-to-hand combats are a feature of the film, while there is a sweet romance to hold the heart strings.

TODAY AT THE MOVIES.

Let it propel your sewing machine for a week in order that you may learn first hand what a wonderful time and labor saver it is.

Without touching your foot to the pedal of the machine this little wonder worker will perform gently and noiselessly by merely touching your toe to the footplate which rests on the floor.

The manufacturers authorize us to make this proposal of a week's free trial that you may become acquainted with its charm. If at the end of that time you are not really anxious to keep it, we will gladly bring it back and close the transaction.

Should you decide to keep it, the price will be only $15. The cost of electric current is only a penny a day for operating.

What About the Details?

You know the general policies of your business, but what do you know about the details?

It is next to an impossibility for any man to carry both; he must leave the details to subordinates and assistants. It is the duty and province of the expert accountant to check up the details and put them before you in concrete form. An audit insures you as to attention to detail while you are directing the general policy.
